Aim Job Plan At Local Level

States And Cities Would Run Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today proposed giving states and cities much of the authority for running $2.3 billion a year in federal programs to train more than 1 million Americans annually for jobs.

As part of his "New Federalism" concept of sharing state, local and federal power, Nixon sent to Congress a Manpower Training Act to streamline and make more flexible the welter of existing job training programs.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, in a briefing, said that despite Job Corps cuts which angered Congress, Nixon is proposing to add 150,000 Americans to job training rolls at an extra cost of $400 million a year.

Most of the additional training would go to welfare recipients if both the manpower bill and Nixon's welfare legislation are enacted. The welfare bill requires most recipients to take job training.

The manpower legislation also would boost job training funds 10 per cent if the nation's unemployment rate rose to 4.5 per cent for three straight months. It is now 3.6 per cent.

This, Shultz said, was to quell fears that many Americans might lose their jobs in Nixon's efforts to slow the nation's economy enough to cool inflation.

The bill also provides for a computerized national job bank to match the unemployed with job openings.

It would equalize living allowances for different job training programs, which now vary, to keep the unemployed from shopping around for the best allowance instead of for the most suitable job training.

Welfare recipients would receive, in lieu of the job training allowance, a special incentive of $30 a month in addition to welfare payments.

Abernathy Leads Lawbreakers

EUTAW, Ala. (AP) — Approximately 1,200 Negroes broke into a white swimming pool and looted its snack bar after six Negroes were inaugurated to Greene County posts Monday. Sheriff Bill Lee said today.

Shortly after the inauguration ceremonies, the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy led the group off the path of a "freedom march" and to the picnic ground where he sent them to the public pool.

The head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference invited all to take a swim, and plunged in himself.

NAPOLÉON, Ohio (AP) — Ellis Baldwin, 21, Rt. 1, Liberty Center, an employee at the Campbell Soup Co., was killed at the farm's plant here Monday night when he fell into a piece of machinery, the Henry County Sheriff's Department reported.

Police Release Caretaker, 19, In 5 Slayings

Youth Reported Sound Asleep In Guest House

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police have released the 19-year-old caretaker they held for questioning in the killing of actress Sharon Tate and four other persons.

"There is no reason to suspect him," said Inspector Harold Yarnell as William E. Garretson was released Monday after two days in custody.

The baby-faced youth wouldn't talk with newsmen. But his lawyer, Barry Tarlow, said Garretson was in his room in a guest house of Miss Tate's estate Friday night and Saturday when the five were shot and stabbed to death.

Garretson didn't know anything had happened until police kicked in his door at 9 a.m. Saturday, Tarlow said.

Desert Takes 3 After Auto Breaks Down

INDEPENDENCE, Calif. (AP) — Two men and a boy stranded in the desert by a car breakdown tried to walk 20 miles to civilization.

Without water and in 120-degree heat, they fell one by one.

Searchers found the sun-blackened body of Arnold Dobson, 65, seven miles from the stranded car Sunday. Three miles on lay Harold Mast Jr., 16. On Monday the searchers came across the body of the boy's father, Harold Sr., 40. He had lasted 13 miles.

A deputy sheriff said the three had set out for their homes in Irvine and Corona Friday after visiting friends in Bishop, 40 miles north of Independence.

They said they planned to stop in Eureka Valley to look at the famous old El Capitan mine. Instead they wandered up an abandoned road into the barren Saline Valley, where their car stalled.

They set out on foot toward a paved road and a ranch house they had passed.

Although the two adults were mining equipment salesmen familiar with desert conditions, they had carried no water.

A mile from the car searchers found a spring-fed oasis in a willow grove. But the two men and the boy walked in the other direction.

Priest And Burglar Exchange Gunfire

NORCO, Calif. (AP) — A priest wielding a rusty revolver traded gunfire with a burglar and was glad he missed.

The Rev. Robert Erickson, 37, was wounded in the leg in an exchange of gunfire when a man entered his home Monday near St. Mel's Roman Catholic Church.

The burglar escaped, police said.

The priest said, "I thank God I didn't hit him. I'm not a marksman. I never intended to use the gun."

'Crime Center' Works On Michigan Slayings

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A round-faced, congenial sheriff's deputy rises from his metal folding chair beneath a locust tree and stops a car at the gate in the chest-high wire fence. The driver is the sheriff.

The deputy dabs at his clipboard and waves the sheriff on. He returns to his seat near a large wooden arch surmounted by a tall cross. The scene is a one-time Roman Catholic seminary on the main road between the twin college towns of Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor. It is now the Washtenaw County Crime Center.

Inside, a team of detectives, other crime experts, clerks and secretaries, are wading through a mass of tips, possible pieces of evidence, statements.

Their job is to find and convict the killer or killers of seven young women.

The search so far has led to the arrest of a handsome young college student on a first-degree murder charge.

He is John Collins, 22, and the county prosecutor says he committed the seventh in the series of sex killings. Beyond that, Prosecutor William Delhey does not go, declaring:

"The linking of Collins to the other slayings can seriously prejudice our case."

Green Beret Chief Would Welcome Probe By Solons

NHA TRANG, Vietnam (AP) — Col. Robert B. Rheault's successor as commander of the Green Berets in Vietnam said today he would not object to a congressional investigation of the case against Rheault and seven other Special Forces men accused with him of murdering a Vietnamese man.

"Congress has a right to know what we do—we work for Congress," said Col. Alexander Lemberes, 43.

A civilian attorney for one of the eight accused men, Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr. of Jefferson, S.C., called Monday for a congressional investigation of the mysterious case. He charged that Middleton was being "sacrificed" for political reasons and implied that the Army was covering up for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Lemberes, of Sparks, Nev., took command of the 5th Special Forces Group in June when Rheault, six other Green Beret officers, and a sergeant were arrested. They are being held in the Long Binh stockade, north of Saigon, while the Army decides whether to bring them to trial on charges of conspiring in the murder of an unidentified Vietnamese.

The Vietnamese is believed to have been exposed as a double agent working for the Americans and the Communists. Informal military sources said Monday his killing was an assigned "military mission," and Middleton's civilian attorney, George W. Gregory of Cheraw, S.C., said "the CIA was very gravely involved."

Lemberes said in an interview that he could not understand the manner in which U.S. Army authorities had handled the case, although he conceded that "they have the facts and figures," and he does not.

Meanwhile, Gregory awaited a decision on his petition for the immediate release from custody of Middleton. The attorney contends that the detention of the men while the Army makes up its mind whether to try them is illegal.

U.S. officials in Saigon familiar with the case said they felt Gregory "tended to exaggerate" in his charges against the military's conduct of the case. One of these sources denied that the CIA was involved.

"He can say almost anything he wants to with impunity. The Army is in a predicament in the case because of all the publicity, and it wouldn't touch him no matter what he says."

New Satellite Would Help In Navigation

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A versatile spacecraft with booms almost the length of a football field rocketed into orbit today packing 13 experiments, including one that could help make transoceanic aircraft travel safer in the 1970s.

Called ATS 5 for the fifth applications technology satellite, the $12 million payload was wobbling in space slightly more than expected, however, forcing officials to consider firing a spacecraft motor 11 hours sooner than originally planned to kick the craft into its final orbit.

"I do not see any problem," said J. R. Burke, ATS program manager with National Aeronautics and Space Administration headquarters in Washington.

However, changing the flight plan would mean up to an additional week of minor orbital adjustments might be needed before the satellite could reach its final planned station 22,300 miles over the equator west of South America, he said.

The multipurpose spacecraft rocketed away from Cape Kennedy at 7:01 a.m., EDT, atop a powerful Atlas-Centaur booster. Two firings of the upper stage Centaur rocket, separated by a 25-minute coast period in earth orbit, successfully drilled the satellite into a near-perfect looping transfer orbit with a peak altitude more than 22,700 miles.

State Declares Mosquito War

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state declared war today on a nine-county mosquito problem in northeastern Ohio which has reached disaster proportions.

"This is a health emergency, not just a nuisance problem," said State Health Director E. W. Arnold. He said the most serious threat from the mosquitoes is California encephalitis—a brain inflammation sometimes called "sleeping sickness."

Gov. James A. Rhodes, along with Arnold, reported that the state would spend an estimated $1 million for aerial fogging of the nine counties: Ashland, Wayne, Stark, Huron, Holmes, Tuscarawas, Harrison, Coshoc-ton and Muskingum.

Farm Price Policy Shifted

BRUSSELS (AP) — The European Common Market decided early today to suspend its uniform farm price policy for one year to cushion the effects of the devaluation of the French franc.

The decision was reached by the Common Market's Council of Ministers at a 19-hour session that ended at 5 a.m.

Most of the argument was between the Dutch delegation and the other five members over a proposal put forward by the Common Market Commission's farm expert, Sicco Mansholt of Holland.

Mansholt proposed that the uniform farm prices be suspended for the next two harvest seasons while the effect of the French devaluation is screened off by import subsidies and export taxes at the French border equivalent to 11.11 per cent—the amount of the devaluation—for the first harvest year and 5.6 per cent for the second harvest year.

By the end of the 1970-71 harvest year, French farm prices were to be raised by the full amount of the devaluation.

Plans backfired Monday when an additional $3,000 was tacked on the previous bids.

Initial bids for the four-part job were rejected July 21 by the Commissioners. At that meeting, bids on three of the four jobs were higher than estimates. It was decided to re-advertise and accept all bids at the same time.

Ground Attacks Cost Enemy Heavy Losses

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops shattered the long battlefield lull early today, shelling 128 allied towns and bases across Vietnam. The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese followed up with ground attacks on 14 allied positions and fought in the streets of two important towns north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command said that all attacks were repulsed and that incomplete figures from the field listed more than 70 enemy dead. U.S. casualties were 51 dead and 345 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were called light but 23 government troops were killed and more than 60 wounded in two battles north of Saigon.

A spokesman for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said: "It's probably the start of their fall campaign but there is no indication how long they'll be able to sustain it. We can't tell if it's anything more than a high point so far."

One of the sharpest battles broke out at a U.S. artillery base blocking infiltration routes from Cambodia to Tay Ninh, 65 miles northwest of Saigon. The base was hit with 400 rounds of rockets, mortars and rocket-propelled grenades.

U.S. artillery fired back, and in the battle 54 North Vietnamese and 9 Americans were killed in the hour-long fight, field reports said. Thirty-nine Americans were wounded.

The biggest enemy push came in an area near the Cambodian border north of Saigon. There about 2,000 North Vietnamese from two or three divisions at-

ROUNDTOWN weather the past couple of days has been nearly perfect... Sunny and warm during the day with cool nights... The preview of fall serves as a reminder to have fewer sufferers that the season is drawing near.

A picture of a vacant lot on W. Main St., that appeared in Monday's edition of The Herald, resulted in a deluge of phone calls received at The Herald offices... Most of the calls were invitations for a photographer to take pictures of weed patches within the city... One woman was quoted as saying "send a cameraman out here he'll really have a picture of weeds... They're over four feet tall in my neighbor's yard."

THE CLIFTONA Theater closed for vacation, has also started a flurry of rumors on the Roundtown scene... A quick check with owner Carl F. Leigh squelches the rumor that the movie house is "closed for good." The Leigh family, happy to reside in Circleville, closed the theater for a couple of weeks vacation during the summer season and promises the theater will open within a few days... Current plans call for central air conditioning to be added before next summer.

Republicans Resign As Protest Move

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Eight members of the Charleston County Republican party resigned Monday to protest the Nixon administration's policies, and will help organize the American party in South Carolina.

Foy Parker, a spokesman for the group which included five GOP executive committee members, said that while the American party is aligned with former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, present efforts to organize it in the state are not aimed specifically at supporting another presidential bid by Wallace.

Apollo Astronauts Say Moon Walking Was Not Difficult

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. reported today that working on the moon was easier than anticipated. They regretted not having more time to spend on the surface.

"I had no difficulty climbing down the ladder to the surface," said Armstrong, the first man to set foot on the moon July 20. "We had no problem operating."

Aldrin, who followed Armstrong by 20 minutes, said: "We found out mobility on the surface better than we had anticipated. We found that a standard loping technique, one foot in front of another, was the best way to get around."

"Kangaroo fashion, two feet at a time, also worked, but not as easily," he said. "We found we had to anticipate two to three steps ahead on the moon," compared with one or two steps on earth."

Armstrong, Aldrin and Michael Collins, who orbited the moon while his companions explored below, told the story of their historic flight at a news conference today. They had been released Sunday from three weeks' quarantine when doctors determined they had contracted no lunar germs.

They accompanied a narration of the flight with color motion pictures and slides, most of which had been released earlier.

The pictures showed the landing on the moon, with the descent engine kicking up dust.

Cool thinking by the astronauts and the ground controllers enabled the flimsy spaceship named Eagle to make the historic July 20 landing in the

Woman Routs Cycle Gang With Well-Placed Rifle Fire

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — What started out as a motorcycle gang attack on a suburban Maple Heights home turned into a rout when the lady of the house opened fire with a rifle, chasing the gang from the front porch and into the arms of police.

Police said some 25 members of the Casual Fools surrounded the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Palmer Monday night, shouted obscenities, fired shots, broke several windows and threatened: "Come on out or we're coming after you."

While Palmer ran to call police, his wife, Margaret, went for their .22 caliber rifle. Their daughters, Cathy, 16, and Cindy, 13, also were in the house.

"They were coming up on the porch to come in," said Palmer. "She had them dancing in the street." The gang fled.

"I aimed low," said the 42-year-old housewife. "I shot to cripple the car's tires. There was a car load in one of them. I did it because my family was in jeopardy. It was a reaction from my adrenalin. I made sure when I shot that no children or neighbors were in sight."

Mrs. Palmer said her daughters had stopped Saturday at a nearby shopping center and talked with members of the motorcycle gang.

"My daughter made a big mistake by giving them our telephone number," Mrs. Palmer said. Monday, one of the girls' boyfriends were there and the boyfriend told the cyclist to leave the girls alone or he would kill him, Mrs. Palmer said.

"In half an hour they were here—all over the place—cars, motorcycles," she said.

Seven were arrested and charged with assault, disorderly conduct and trespassing.

Lebanese authorities said today Israeli planes killed four persons and wounded three Monday in three villages and several military posts in the Mt. Hebron area of southeast Lebanon. Beirut newspapers put the loss at 8 dead and 21 wounded.

The Beirut government sent the United Nations a complaint against "indiscriminate napalm bombing of civilians."

"This treacherous attack against some of the frontline villages demonstrates Israel's policy of aggression," said acting Premier Rashid Karami.

"The incident only increases the determination of the Lebanese to defend their territory and sovereignty against all dangers."

A communique, issued by the Palestine Armed Struggle Command, said three guerrillas were killed and seven wounded in the Israeli air strikes against commando bases Monday. It claimed that two Israeli planes were shot down by ground fire and fell into Israeli territory.

Bids for general construction work, which would involve opening a wall in the jail to allow for the addition of heavy electric gates in the cells, was submitted by Frank Vlack Construction Company of Columbus.

THE company had bid $13,884 two weeks ago. Their bid was dropped to $9,200 Monday. Estimates call for $5,000.

Plumbing bids were submitted by two firms, L. and M. Contractors and the Brunner Corporation of Columbus.

L. and M. bid $11,968 for the plumbing work while Brunner bid $14,686, both identical with previous bids. Estimates call for $9,700.

In addition, L. and M. Mechanical Contractors bid $25,828 for the general plumbing, electrical and general construction work.

Electrical bids were turned in by three firms.

Flash Electric of Circleville submitted a low bid of $3,144. Electric Power and Equipment and L. Paul Miller Electric submitted bids identical to previous bids, $3,999 and $4,757.

ELECTRICAL work was estimated at $3,800.

Trouble developed over the detention equipment. The only bid submitted was that of Southern Steel of San Antonio, Tex., for $22,976.

Ground Attacks Cost Enemy Heavy Losses

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops shattered the long battle-field lull early today, shelling 128 allied towns and bases across Vietnam. The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese followed up with ground attacks on 14 allied positions and fought in the streets of two important towns north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command said that all attacks were repulsed and that incomplete figures from the field listed more than 90 enemy dead. U.S. casualties were 51 dead and 345 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were called light but 23 government troops were killed and more than 60 wounded in two battles north of Saigon.

A spokesman for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said: "It's probably the start of their fall campaign but there is no indication how long they'll be able to sustain it. We can't tell if it's anything more than a high point so far."

One of the sharpest battles broke out at a U.S. artillery base blocking infiltration routes from Cambodia to Tay Ninh, 65 miles northwest of Saigon. The base was hit with 400 rounds of rockets, mortars and rocket-propelled grenades.

U.S. artillery fired back, and in the battle 54 North Vietnamese and 9 Americans were killed in the hour-long fight, field reports said. Thirty-nine Americans were wounded.

The biggest enemy push came in an area near the Cambodian border north of Saigon. There about 2,000 North Vietnamese from two or three divisions attacked.

New Satellite Would Help In Navigation

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A versatile spacecraft with booms almost the length of a football field rocketed into orbit today packing 13 experiments, including one that could help make transoceanic aircraft travel safer in the 1970s.

Called ATS 5 for the fifth applications technology satellite, the $12 million payload was wobbling in space slightly more than expected, however, forcing officials to consider firing a spacecraft motor 11 hours sooner than originally planned to kick the craft into its final orbit.

"I do not see any problem," said J. R. Burke, ATS program manager with National Aeronautics and Space Administration headquarters in Washington.

However, changing the flight plan would mean up to an additional week of minor orbital adjustments might be needed before the satellite could reach its final planned station 22,300 miles over the equator west of South America, he said.

The multipurpose spacecraft rocketed away from Cape Kennedy at 7:01 a.m. EDT, atop a powerful Atlas-Centaur booster. Two firings of the upper stage Centaur rocket, separated by a 25-minute coast period in earth orbit, successfully drilled the satellite into a near-perfect looping transfer orbit with a peak altitude more than 22,700 miles.

Roundtown

ROUNDTOWN weather the past couple of days has been nearly perfect . . . Sunny and warm during the day with cool nights . . . The preview of fall serves as a reminder to hay fever sufferers that the season is drawing near.

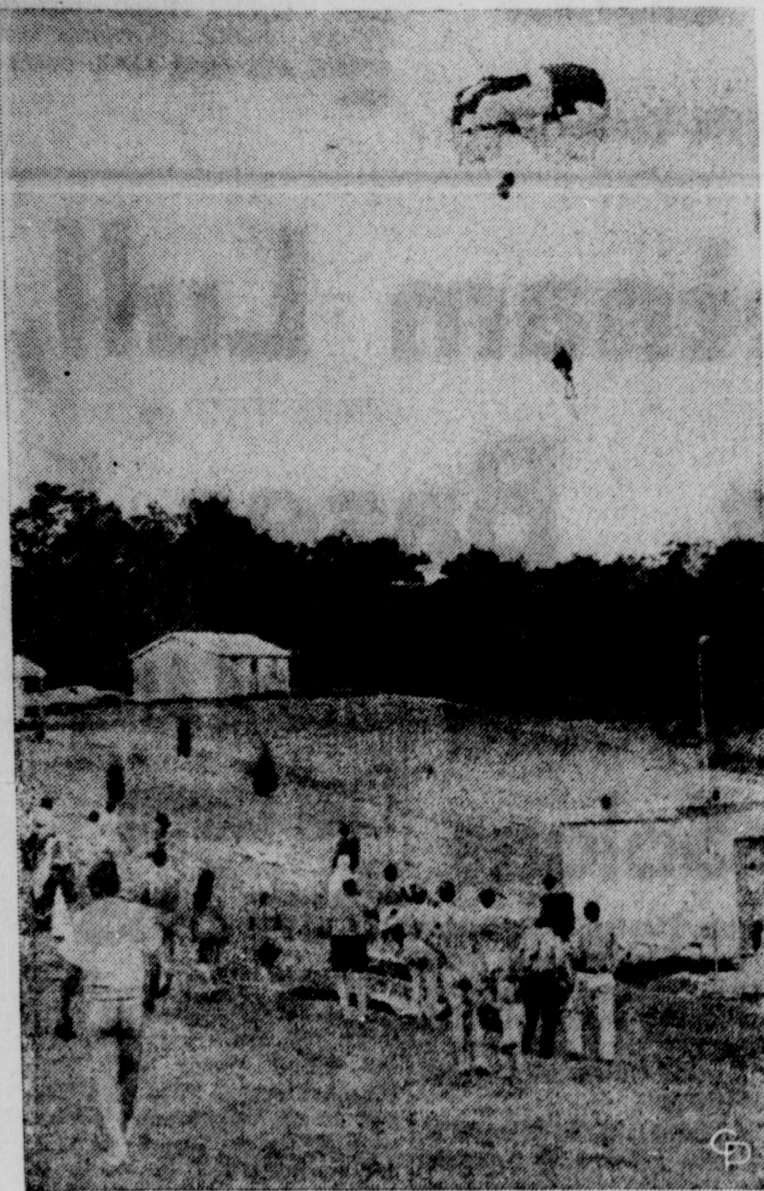

A picture of a vacant lot on W. Main St., that appeared in Monday's edition of The Herald, resulted in a deluge of phone calls received at The Herald offices . . . Most of the calls were invitations for a photographer to take pictures of weed patches within the city . . . One woman was quoted as saying "send a cameraman out here he'll really have a picture of weeds . . . They're over four feet tall in my neighbor's yard."

THE CLIFTONA Theater, closed for vacation, has also started a flurry of rumors on the Roundtown scene . . . A quick check with owner Carl F. Leigh squelches the rumor that the movie house is "closed for good." The Leigh family, happy to reside in Circleville, closed the theater for a couple of weeks vacation during the summer season and promises the theater will open within a few days . . . Current plans call for central air conditioning to be added before next summer.

Republicans Resign As Protest Move

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Eight members of the Charleston County Republican party resigned Monday to protest the Nixon administration's policies, and will help organize the American party in South Carolina.

Foy Parker, a spokesman for the group which included five GOP executive committee members, said that while the American party is aligned with former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, present efforts to organize it in the state are not aimed specifically at supporting another presidential bid by Wallace.

Car-Bike, Car-Bridge Accidents Injure Two

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department are investigating two accidents that injured two persons.

Bill Hurley, 12, S. Scioto St., suffered a fractured left ankle and abrasions and contusions over his body, when he was struck by a car while riding a bicycle.

The accident occurred 2:35 p.m. Monday on County Road 511 near Tink's Tavern.

Julie Ann Sanserainte, 21, of 1135 Atwater Ave., driver of the car, stated that she was traveling north when she saw two boys on bicycles in the center of the road.

She told Sheriff's Deputy Robert Hoover that she sounded her horn and attempted to pass the boys on the left.

Hurley cut to the left side of the road, into the path of Miss Sanserainte's car, while his companion took to the right side of the highway.

The car skidded 51-feet, striking the boy and 16-foot to a stop in the center of the road. Hurley was taken to the Ashville Clinic for observation.

Betty Strausbaugh, Kingston, sustained a lacerated right eye and lacerations to her elbow and knee and possible broken ribs in a one-car accident 5:15 a.m. Tuesday on Boggs Road, eight miles southeast of Circleville.

According to Sheriff's Deputy Francis McGinnis, Mrs. Strausbaugh was traveling on the road at a high rate of speed when she crashed into a bridge.

Mrs. Strausbaugh stated that because of a heavy fog cover, she could not see the bridge.

She was treated in Chillicothe Hospital.

U.S. Navy ROTC Tests Scheduled

Male students who are college bound in 1970 are advised by the chief of Naval personnel that the annual national competitive examination for the regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) will be given in December, 1969.

The regular NROTC program prepares a young man for a Navy or Marine Corps commission while he is studying at one of the many civilian colleges and universities where NROTC units are established. All tuition, fees, uniforms and books are furnished by the Navy and the student receives $50 per month subsistence allowance for not more than four years. During the summer between academic years, the student participates in interesting at-sea training periods as a midshipman. After successfully completing a baccalaureate level college course and all military requirements, he is commissioned in the regular Navy or Marine Corps.

Eligible high school seniors and graduates should submit their applications before November 14, 1969. Application forms are available from high school counselors, the Lancaster Navy recruiting station or from the Chief of Naval Personnel (Pers B6411), Department of the Navy, Washington, D. C. 20370.

Kennedy Changes May Hurt Student Loan Program OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate plans a last-ditch effort to revive the college student guaranteed loan program before Congress leaves on its three-week recess.

But Republicans charge that amendments pushed successfully by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in the Labor Committee last Friday have upset negotiations to rush action on the bill.

Extensive cloakroom negotiations Monday failed to resolve the controversy over these amendments although Senate leaders did win an agreement for a vote on the bill today.

Republicans said they would seek to eliminate one of the Kennedy riders and perhaps both.

Even if the Senate passes the measure there is no guarantee the House will follow suit before the summer recess begins Wednesday afternoon.

Consideration of a similar measure was blocked Monday in the House. Some members there wish to use it as a vehicle for a provision to punish students involved in campus riots.

The key provision of the Senate bill is a subsidy payment which could mean a yield to banks of 10 per cent on the student loans.

The present interest ceiling is 7 per cent. This has meant that loan funds have dried up with the prime interest rate now at 8 1/2 per cent.

The Senate committee was told about 220,000 students seeking to enroll this fall will be denied loans because of the tight money situation unless Congress votes the subsidies.

One of the Kennedy amendments would prohibit a bank or other lender from requiring a student or his family to have account with it to obtain a loan.

Republicans said they definitely would try to strike this from the bill.

The other would raise by $170 million the authorizations for two aid programs for youths from low-income families—the educational opportunity grant program and the college work-study program.

A GOP effort also may be made to eliminate this.

The Republicans said Kennedy had put the bill in danger by offering amendments.

It will be too late when Congress returns in September from its recess because many students will have to enroll by then, they said.

The great bulk of college students who seek government aid must get it through the guaranteed loan program, the GOP legislators said.

Pentagon Critics Continue Fight Against High Outlays

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon critics, accused by Sen. John Stennis of fostering dangerous "mistrust and distrust" of the military, have an arsenal of amendments ready to challenge defense spending.

Two critics, Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Clifford Case, R-N.J., announced today they would try to scuttle $377 million earmarked for a nuclear powered aircraft carrier.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., already has before the Senate an amendment to cut $45.6 million in military science research funds.

He said much of that research has nothing to do with defense, and the thinking which characterizes some "think tank" studies "is likely to lead to a larger and larger military establishment and more Vietnams."

Still on the docket, but unlikely to face action before September are amendments to trim funds for a new named bomber and the C5A transport.

An amendment to restrict testing and transport of chemical and biological weapons passed the Senate 91 to 0 Monday after the Pentagon and Stennis, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, agreed to it.

Stennis also accepted a compromise amendment trimming to $75 million the defense emergency fund, a Pentagon contingency budget which was to have been $100 million. That one passed 94 to 0.

But Stennis defended the $20 billion military authorization program his committee produced as a balanced and vital measure. He criticized efforts to change it on the floor "piece by piece."

"We better know what we're doing," the Mississippi Democrat said.

After listing U.S. commitments abroad, Stennis said: "There are points besides honor in just turning our backs on these commitments. There is involved the security of the United States."

Speaking of Vietnam, Stennis commented: "The Lord only knows how we'll get out or when we'll get out."

Stennis said he has worked to bring military spending under control and wants it cut by at least $10 billion a year after Vietnam.

But he warned against a mood of resistance to defense programs.

"It's leading this country into what I consider a dangerous state of mind," he said, "mistrust, distrust, down with the military, down with the senators who are in line with the military."

Fulbright said that in seeking to hold down military spending, there is no slander of military men.

FIND PLANE WRECKAGE — Snow-covered wreckage of the "Gamblers' Special" lies at the 12,000-foot level of Mt. Whitney near Lone Pine, Calif. It is believed the plane struck the rock wall in background and tumbled down the slope. Thirty-five died when this plane crashed on Feb. 18.

Kennedy Changes May Hurt Student Loan Program OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate plans a last-ditch effort to revive the college student guaranteed loan program before Congress leaves on its three-week recess.

But Republicans charge that amendments pushed successfully by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in the Labor Committee last Friday have upset negotiations to rush action on the bill.

Extensive cloakroom negotiations Monday failed to resolve the controversy over these amendments although Senate leaders did win an agreement for a vote on the bill today.

Republicans said they would seek to eliminate one of the Kennedy riders and perhaps both.

Even if the Senate passes the measure there is no guarantee the House will follow suit before the summer recess begins Wednesday afternoon.

Consideration of a similar measure was blocked Monday in the House. Some members there wish to use it as a vehicle for a provision to punish students involved in campus riots.

The key provision of the Senate bill is a subsidy payment which could mean a yield to banks of 10 per cent on the student loans.

The present interest ceiling is 7 per cent. This has meant that loan funds have dried up with the prime interest rate now at 8 1/2 per cent.

The Senate committee was told about 220,000 students seeking to enroll this fall will be denied loans because of the tight money situation unless Congress votes the subsidies.

One of the Kennedy amendments would prohibit a bank or other lender from requiring a student or his family to have account with it to obtain a loan.

Republicans said they definitely would try to strike this from the bill.

The other would raise by $170 million the authorizations for two aid programs for youths from low-income families—the educational opportunity grant program and the college work-study program.

A GOP effort also may be made to eliminate this. The Republicans said Kennedy had put the bill in danger by offering amendments.

It will be too late when Congress returns in September from its recess because many students will have to enroll by then, they said.

The great bulk of college students who seek government aid must get it through the guaranteed loan program, the GOP legislators said.

County Road Closed For Bridge Repair

Henry T. McCrady, Pickaway County Engineer, has announced the closing of Boggs Road in Pickaway Township for emergency repair on the bridge over Congo Creek.

The road from Route 361 to Route 159 will be closed for the next ten days.

Pentagon Critics Continue Fight Against High Outlays

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon critics, accused by Sen. John Stennis of fostering dangerous "mistrust and distrust" of the military, have an arsenal of amendments ready to challenge defense spending.

Two critics, Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Clifford Case, R-N.J., announced today they would try to scuttle $377 million earmarked for a nuclear powered aircraft carrier.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., already has before the Senate an amendment to cut $45.6 million in military science research funds.

He said much of that research has nothing to do with defense, and the thinking which characterizes some "think tank" studies "is likely to lead to a larger and larger military establishment and more Vietnams."

Still on the docket, but unlikely to face action before September are amendments to trim funds for a new manned bomber and the C5A transport.

An amendment to restrict testing and transport of chemical and biological weapons passed the Senate 91 to 0 Monday after the Pentagon and Stennis, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, agreed to it.

Stennis also accepted a compromise amendment trimming to $75 million the defense emergency fund, a Pentagon contingency budget which was to have been $100 million. That one passed 94 to 0.

But Stennis defended the $20 billion military authorization program his committee produced as a balanced and vital measure. He criticized efforts to change it on the floor "piece by piece."

"We better know what we're doing," the Mississippi Democrat said.

After listing U.S. commitments abroad, Stennis said: "There are points besides honor in just turning our backs on these commitments. There is involved the security of the United States."

Speaking of Vietnam, Stennis commented: "The Lord only knows how we'll get out or when we'll get out."

Stennis said he has worked to bring military spending under control and wants it cut by at least $10 billion a year after Vietnam.

But he warned against a mood of resistance to defense programs.

"It's leading this country into what I consider a dangerous state of mind," he said, "mistrust, distrust, down with the military, down with the senators who are in line with the military."

Fulbright said that in seeking to hold down military spending, there is no slander of military men.

tacked a dozen American bases around An Loc, a provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon; Loc Ninh, 10 miles farther north; and Quan Loi four miles northeast of An Loc.

Military spokesmen said the Communist command had planned to use more men, but more than 100 B52 strikes during the past five days along the Cambodian border and the doubling of allied strength there to 8,000 men disrupted some enemy units trying to move into attack position.

The spokesmen said the enemy's aim was to seize An Loc, Loc Ninh or Quan Loi, even if only for a short time, and establish a de facto provisional revolutionary government for a propaganda victory.

"This one we definitely were ready for," said one officer. "Their attack was broken up before it really got going. Prisoners said they were going to attack the area probably Aug. 10th, 11th or 12th."

The U.S. Command had set up a task force headquarters at Quan Loi in anticipation of the attacks, and this was one of the installations hit hardest. Some enemy sappers got into the camp but were cut down. Initial reports said 23 North Vietnamese and three Americans were killed and 23 U.S. troops wounded.

Set Grid Games During Daytime

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Middletown High School officials have decided all home football games this fall will be played on Saturday afternoons.

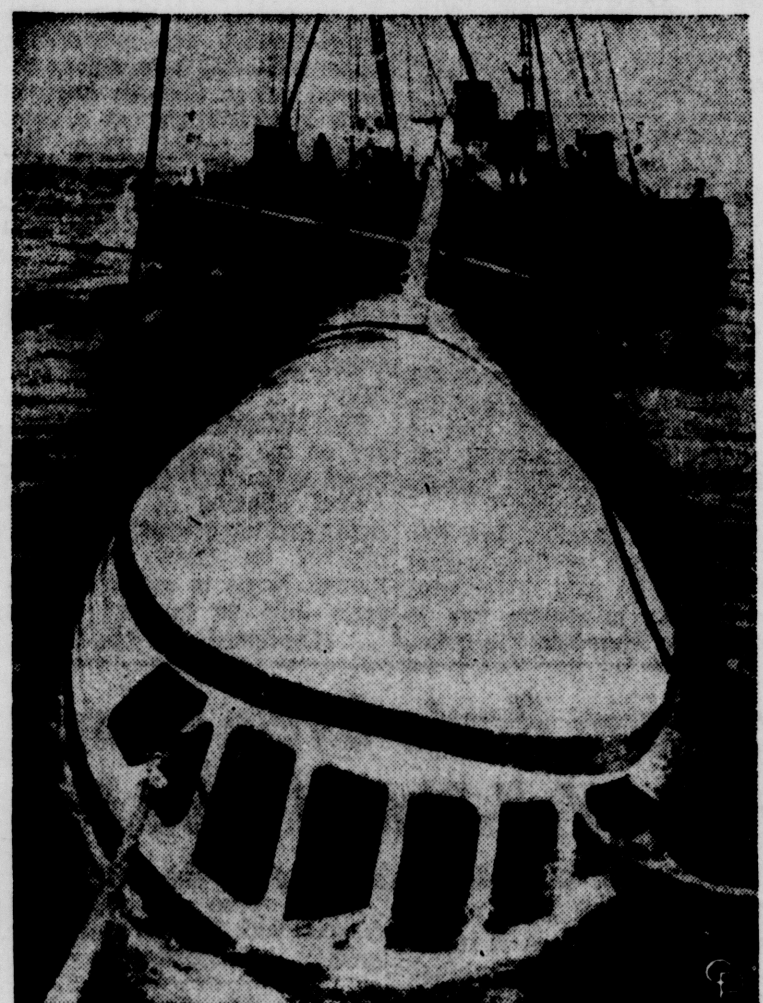

In the past, the games have been played at night but there were a series of disturbances last fall and, on several occasions, the entire Middletown police department had to be called into action.

Middletown police chief James Howerton had recommended that the games be played in daylight hours. The Fraternal Order of Police also had said it would not allow off-duty officers to be called out for emergency duty in connection with football game disturbances.

Vote On Dayton Tax

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Citizens of Dayton vote in a special election today on a five-year renewal of its 1 per cent city income tax. A proposal to increase the tax to 1.5 per cent was defeated at the polls last May. City officials say unless the tax is renewed, some vital city services will have to be suspended.

All this business about God is supposed to be accepted on blind faith, isn't it? If you don't have the faith, that's all there is to it. There's nothing to think about.

Except you might think about why you're here and where you're going. You might think about why you don't have the faith, why you don't believe that there is a God who cares about what you do here on Earth. You might think about all the questions concerning life — and death — that you can't answer by yourself.

You might even try visiting a church or synagogue every week for a while. And, as you ponder questions bigger than you can answer, maybe you'll realize the possibility of a Power bigger than you can imagine.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television is a man's game, as a quick look at the three network entertainment schedule will prove. After all, in a medium well stocked with action and adventure, it is logical that the incidence of male stars is greater than that of women.

But the distaff side is registering some prime-time gains. Top-drawer TV stardom consists of naming a show after the performer. Next season there will be 16 shows with such tags, and six will star women. Lucille Ball, Carol Burnett and Doris Day return in their series, their ranks swelled by Debbie Reynolds, Leslie Uggams and the Lennon Sisters, with new shows.

Action shows like "Ironside," and "Mannix" inject a feminine balance by casting pretty girls as assistants or Girl Fridays, but Peggy Lipton of "Mod Squad" shares top billing with the two young male leads. There would not be much show left if the Barbara Eden part "I Dream of Jeannie" were removed. Barbara Feldon is essential to "Get Smart," and Eva Gabor's gentle comedy gives "Green Acres" its spice.

Undisputed stars of their series are Diahann Carroll of "Julia," Marlo Thomas of "That Girl," Elizabeth Montgomery of "Bewitched," Sally Field of "The Flying Nun." And it appears that Lana Turner will be the dominating figure in "The Survivors," a new dramatic series.

Ohio U And Miami Seek OK To Boost Tuition And Fees

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Trustees at Ohio and Miami universities Monday asked the Ohio Board of Regents to approve various fee increases, including a $100 - per - quarter tuition hike for out-of-state students.

The boards also voted to raise instructional fees by $10 to $160 a quarter, maximum set by the legislature.

The increases, except for the out - of - state surcharge, apply only to the Athens and Oxford campuses, and not to the universities' branches.

Action by the boards came amid speculation that the regents would eliminate about $8 million in student fee waivers now granted by state universities when it meets in Columbus Friday to assess its financial position.

When the Ohio Legislature froze tuition at $160 on main campuses and at $150 at branches, it also gave the regents final authority on fee increases and directed the board to set guidelines for limiting the practice of waiving fees.

Under the proposals approved by trustees Monday, out-of-state students at Miami will pay $300 a quarter tuition and similar students at OU will pay from $200 to $300.

Ohio University President Claude R. Sowle said it was necessary to raise tuition for out-of-staters because the legislature cut subsidies for nonresidents by 50 per cent.

Phillip R. Shriver, Miami president, said the fees hike is required because, despite increased total aid to higher education, "the actual per student subsidy support level has not been increased sufficiently to meet rising costs." Trustees of both schools also voted to increase room and board rates at dormitories. This does not require regents approval.

Miami students will pay $20 more a quarter, or $350.

The rates at OU were raised from $930 to $1,014 a year for students having more than one roommate, and from $990 to $1,074 a year for those with one roommate.

On Trail Of Quarks

Quarks are among the most interesting scientific phenomenon. Most scientists say they exist in theory, but no one has ever seen one. Yet they are theorized to be the most important particle of an atom — literally, the building block of the universe.

In the latest expedition to find the elusive quark, a group of Australian scientists has taken to the sunscorched bush country 350 miles northwest of Sydney. They are keeping watch on 34 recording stations implanted in the ground over a 15-square-mile area.

By the end of the year they hope to expand their coverage to 33 square miles.

They are collecting bombardments from cosmic showers, which hit the area every 11 minutes. "Because of our greater area and new methods of recording the air showers," a member of the team explained, "we can pick up particles traveling with far greater energy than have ever been recorded before."

Undoubtedly, this is one of the largest missing particle hunts in history. The outcome will depend on whether that elusive agent which could explain much about matter and the construction of the universe will come to visit.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — France's devaluation of the franc was recognition of a reality, a bowing to the course of events, something that much of the world thought was lacking in the days of Charles de Gaulle.

The reality was, that despite the official value of the franc as stated by the French government, speculators and currency traders already had devalued French money. They weren't willing to pay 20 cents for a franc.

The weakness in the French financial situation was evident as long ago as May 1968, when workers and students rioted and the workers won big pay increases, something they had been denied for years previously.

Many experts predicted then that France couldn't absorb such increases in the costs of its goods—that inevitably French goods would become too expensive to compete in world markets. Especially when Germany was so competitive.

Adjoining France, Germany was enjoying a hardy economy. So strong was it in fact that many currency investors believed the mark to be one of the safest currencies around. They felt it was undervalued.

If the mark was indeed undervalued then it would make a good investment. It would mean also that German goods would enjoy a price advantage in foreign markets, which included France.

The matter came to a head in November, when the tremendous reserves of gold and currencies that had accumulated under the austere economy of earlier years began to drain from France. Francs were sold as overpriced; marks were bought as underpriced.

The money was sent from France to Germany by speculators, by investors in German enterprises and by purchasers of German cars and other products that appeared so attractively priced.

De Gaulle was urged to devalue in order once again to make francs attractive and to make French goods more competitively priced abroad. And in fact he was fully expected to make such an announcement.

At the same time, many French economists, government officials and financial men argued that Germany should help out by revalue or raising the price of the mark to make it less attractive. Germany declined to do so.

Well, so did De Gaulle refuse. He stood before an astonished world in late November and declared that the value of the franc would be maintained. How? By a return to austerity. French workers would be asked to work harder.

It was a courageous stance, but it didn't work. In making the devaluation announcement, the French government in effect conceded that these realities would have to be faced.

First, that the franc already was being traded at a discount below its official value; second, that the fight to maintain the franc's strength when francs were being cashed in was becoming unbearable.

It was "common sense," said President Pompidou, to bring the franc into line with the rate to which it had already dropped in foreign trade transactions.

The official statement declared: "To try to overcome this handicap would be to choose a policy of brutal deflation which would impose unbearable sacrifices and massive unemployment on the country."

In other words, the populace of the nation, which had rioted a little more than a year before against the austerity of the De Gaulle government, would not be asked to make further immediate sacrifices in the name of austerity.

Officer Beaten; Wrecks Cruiser In Wild Chase

POMEROY, Ohio (AP) — A policeman from adjacent Middleport, beaten by three men he stopped for a traffic violation, wrecked his cruiser early today, climaxing a wild chase that ended in West Virginia.

Patrolmen Richard Hays, 24, said he stopped a sports car in Middleport and was beaten by its three occupants. The car then sped over the Pomeroy-Mason bridge, which spans the Ohio River, with the policeman in pursuit.

Hays, who fired two shots at the speeding car, lost it when he wrecked his cruiser near Lakin, W. Va., about six miles from here.

The policeman, who suffered slight injuries in the wreck, was in good condition at Veterans Memorial Hospital here.

Have Tough Time With Tomatoes

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio (AP) — Reynoldsburg, birthplace of the tomato, is having a tough time drumming up enthusiasm for its tomato festival, Sept. 16-21.

Although a botanist developed the basic domestic strain of tomatoes here years ago, Reynoldsburg never has been a tomato town.

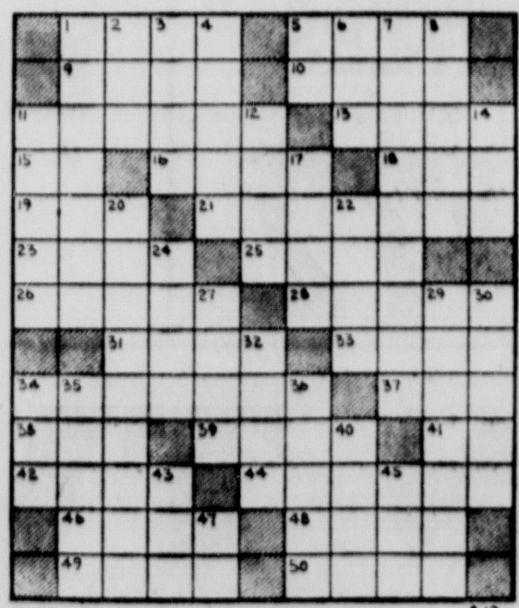

The commercial tomato industry is located in northern parts of the state and tomato processors have shown little or no interest in Reynoldsburg's festival.

"Frankly, some people couldn't care less whether this is the birthplace of the tomato," said Councilman Gilbert Whalen.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A SLIGHTLY pixilated gent blockaded a full admiral at a cocktail soiree to impart the invaluable information that he, too, had been in the Navy in World War II. Then he became suddenly aware of all the gold braid adorning the admiral's uniform. He backed off embarrassedly and stammered, "Gad! You're in this thing pretty deep, aren't you?"

There's a young advertising executive in New York whose somewhat outlandish taste in clothes are a source of acute embarrassment to his staid mother in Michigan. To complete her confusion, he grew a Fu Manchu mustache last year. "If you have any love left at all for your mother," she protested bitterly, "you'll shave off that hideous mustache."

So to surprise and please her, he shaved off the mustache before he flew home for her birthday. His mother not only failed to thank him for his noble sacrifice, but never brought the subject up during his visit.

As he bade her goodbye, he finally blurted out, "Mom, I shaved off my beautiful mustache just for you. Didn't you even notice?"

His mother embraced him warmly. "Of course, I noticed, you silly boy, but I promised your father I'd never once mention your mustache!"

Asked one sorority sister of another, "Did you enjoy the bridge party Friday night?" "It was something!" enthused the other, "but then those snoopy campus policemen came and looked under the bridge!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Readers should appreciate the experience I am about to relate as much as I did. Living in a sophisticated city like New York, where hospitals and medical schools are large complexes that seem impersonal and without feeling. I am deeply aware of kindness from one human being to another. I have a particularly dear friend who has courageously borne the burden of a neurological disease and now is in a period of constant pain. All conceivable modern medication failed to affect the intensity of the pain that is devastating and unbearable. I learned that a group of dedicated physicians and scientists are concentrating their energies on the control of pain and the study of its prevention.

At the Memorial Hospital in New York City, I made my first contact with Dr. Raymond W. Houde. I must be allowed the indulgence of saying that, from the moment I, a stranger, spoke to his secretary, I felt a sense of warmth, generosity, and kindness that was a prelude to one of the most gratifying experiences in my total medical practice.

The appointment was made and my friend and I spent the next few hours tracing the history of the pain, giving Dr. Houde insight into its cause, and seeking a program for its control.

That which impressed me most was the fact that within the steel and concrete structure of an impersonal hospital building lies a core of humane understanding of another human's need for the relief of such intensive and intractable pain. Dr. Houde and his co-workers are exploring every conceivable approach to the greater understanding of the total subject of pain.

Teenagers can, and should be taught to improve their posture by simple methods. It is accepted that the adult reflects the good or bad posture acquired during childhood and adolescence.

Dr. Wallace A. Wesley suggests that while standing, the feet should be slightly apart with the weight balanced on both feet and the toes pointing straight ahead. The hips can be tucked in and the abdomen kept flat, while the knees are relaxed and kept straight.

While walking the feet should be kept parallel and close together. It is suggested that the push forward should be made with the back foot. An even, rhythmic stride can control the length of the step. The arms should swing easily and freely.

While sitting, the feet should be flat on the floor and not curled or twisted. The thighs should be supported by the curvature of the chair and the curve of the knee. A straight back chair can keep the body supported from the hips to the neck.

These are simple suggestions and can become routine when once the habit is established. It may take a little effort at first but before long, it is part of a normal pattern and demands no special attention.

Anti-Demagogue In Politics

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
Very few of the world's statesmen or politicians (call them what you may) dare to sit down with a reporter to explore a subject in its philosophic ramifications. But John Marchi, the Republican nominee for Mayor of New York, who stands a good chance of winning in a three-way election, is a revelation: he can't seem to talk in crudely partisan terms on any of the problems that are agitating the voters. For those who enjoy the dying art of good conversation — and good thinking — this is a pure delight. Whether it will win an election in New York City next November is another question. It depends on whether the voters are "fed up to here" (to quote Richard Nixon) with hokum, balderdash, nonsense, and the various assorted idiocies that seem to possess even the most rational of men once they are out on the campaign circuit.

Marchi, in an interview, insists on leveling with you far beyond the call of conventional political duty. He is the complete anti-demagogue. Hence his reproving words, directed at John Lindsay and Mario Procaccino, his rival candidates for Mayor, on the subject of their own most recent demagoguery in the matter of financing the twenty cent subway fare. Both Lindsay, the Liberal and Procaccino, the organization Democrat, have struck noble poses and called for transit subsidies from somewhere "out there." But there isn't any "out there" in the State of New York that stands willing to help New York subway riders at the expense of themselves.

It's foolish to think, so Marchi says, that people who pay twenty-five, thirty and even forty cents to get them to work in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse or wherever might be willing to tax themselves to help subway riders retain a lower fare in Harlem or the Bronx.

What Marchi is saying is that human beings have human natures, and one should be candid about normal expectations. There won't be any "out there" state subsidy for the New York City subway rider unless there is a quid pro quo that gives equal relief to the bus riders upstate. If the national Secretary of Transportation, John Volpe, has ideas for improving the all-over quality of the commuting services that cross city, borough and county lines, that would be something else again.

How do you solve the transportation problems of New York City in the context of a general philosophy that would promote equity to Mamaroneck, Jamestown, and Kameateles? You certainly don't do it by saying that Albany must cough up the dough for New York City, or else. Albany isn't going to cough up the dough; as Governor Nelson Rockefeller has said, "the cupboard is bare."

But you might get somewhere if you know something about the big picture. It so happens that John Marchi, as a State Senator, has been a member of the Executive Committee of the Council of State Governments. He is also the chairman of this particular committee's subcommittee on State-Urban Relations. As such, he has been meeting with representatives from fifty state governments to discuss such problems as transport in and out of cities. He meets with Vice President Agnew, with Secretary Volpe, and with Health, Education, and Welfare Secretary Bob Finch at conferences in Ohio, Washington, and elsewhere. If there is any money for subway riders from a national "out there," Marchi would be the first of the three candidates for Mayor to spot it. This isn't to say that he could get it in time to win an election. But from his experience, which has been wider than Lindsay's or Procaccino's, he knows that disillusionment must come to any City Hall regime that indulges in the wish-fulfillment dream of "budgeting on expectations."

The question that Marchi faces as a campaigner is one of finding the most effective way of entering into rational discourse with New York City's eight million people. He can't talk plain common sense with each voter individually. He did get around in the last thirteen days of his primary campaign, logging six thousand miles inside the city in a rented car. Since he beat Lindsay, who specializes in street corner appearances, he must have been effective. In his temperamental inability to use the meataxe and the blunderbus, John Marchi has his job cut out for him this autumn. But maybe the voters are "fed up to here" with candidates who tear passions to tatters and yowl like animals in a zoo.

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman
CHALMERS P. WYLIE
15th District of Ohio

In any report from the Senate on the proposal to Washington this week, notice must be given to the action in the Senate on the proposal to deploy the Safeguard Anti-Ballistic Missile System.

The closeness of the vote reflects the mixed feeling of people all across the nation concerning this proposal. We want to be in a position to protect ourselves against a nuclear attack from an enemy. Yet we do not want to precipitate an attack.

Then again the Safeguard System is very costly, and there are many needs in our country. But if it provides the means for the protection of the United States against nuclear attack, the cost is a small factor indeed. And so the argument goes.

Capitol Hill observers noted that perhaps not since the summer of 1941 when the House extended the peacetime draft by a margin of only one vote — 203 to 202 — has there been such a thrilling roll call as the Senate vote on ABM. It was recalled that only a few months later the Pearl Harbor attack altered events and the mood of the country concerning the vote on the draft. Now the issue comes to the House. I would like to have constituent views.

A bill which would have attracted considerably attention, except for the ABM issue, is the Tax Reform Act of 1969. The bill represents a rather comprehensive reform of the income tax laws. Twenty-seven different categories in the Internal Revenue Code are amended by the bill. We have received many letters from constituents suggesting the necessity of tax reforms. Some mail has been received on each of the reforms proposed. When the package was announced, however, we received much mail protesting a specific provision of the tax reform measure. I suppose anyone could find some objection to the Tax Reform package.

On balance, I would say the changes in various tax incentives or preferences which have been added to the Internal Revenue laws over the past 50 years have been amended so that the sharing of the tax burden is on a more equitable basis for all taxpayers. The bill came out of the Rules Committee under what is known as a closed rule. Historically, tax bills have been handled this way. This simply means that Members had no opportunity to make amendments to the bill on the House floor and could only vote for all 27 provisions or none. Tax breaks have been provided for persons using the standard deduction from $1,000 to $2,000. The minimum income standard deduction is increased for low-income taxpayers, widows. Widows with dependent children will be able to qualify as the head of the household and there is a 5 per cent reduction in taxes for persons with income up to $13,000. More work needs to be done in the area of tax reforms, but I think this bill is a step in the right direction.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to increase veterans' educational training allowance by an average of 27 per cent.

This bill, if accepted by the Senate, would make the second increase in veterans' educational allowances enacted by Congress in two years.

This measure, which would affect nearly 750,000 veterans, would boost the $130 a month now paid to an unmarried veteran attending college full-time to $165. Married veterans with no children would receive an increase from $155 to $197 a month and veterans with two dependents would receive an increase from $175 to $222 a month. The current $10 paid for each dependent over two in number would be raised to $13.

Also included in the bill is a provision to raise the subsistence allowance paid to disabled veterans taking full-time education training.

The total package will cost approximately $208 million for the current fiscal year.

A bill to aid the handicapped person was passed by a vote of 365 yeas to 22 nays and authorizes the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to enter into an agreement with an institution of higher education located in the National Capital area for a National Center for the Handicapped.

A bill to boost payments to banks that make government guaranteed college student loans was reported out by the House Education and Labor Committee and will be sent to the full House for consideration in the near future.

The program pays interest up to 7 per cent on bank loans for students who agree to repay after they graduate. With the prime interest rate up to 8½ per cent, banks are just not making loans to students. I have received considerable mail pleading for help mostly from young people seeking loans to enter college next month.

Some college loan officials say as many as 200,000 students applying for loans for the coming academic year may be turned down because of lack of loan funds, unless this measure is approved. My present intention is to support it.

On Trail Of Quarks

Quarks are among the most interesting scientific phenomenon. Most scientists say they exist in theory, but no one has ever seen one. Yet they are theorized to be the most important particle of an atom — literally, the building block of the universe.

In the latest expedition to find the elusive quark, a group of Australian scientists has taken to the sun-scorched bush country 350 miles northwest of Sydney. They are keeping watch on 34 recording stations implanted in the ground over a 15-square-mile area.

By the end of the year they hope to expand their coverage to 38 square miles.

They are collecting bombardments from cosmic showers, which hit the area every 11 minutes. "Because of our greater area and new methods of recording the air showers," a member of the team explained, "we can pick up particles traveling with far greater energy than have ever been recorded before."

Undoubtedly, this is one of the largest missing particle hunts in history. The outcome will depend on whether that elusive agent which could explain much about matter and the construction of the universe will come to visit.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Readers should appreciate the experience I am about to relate as much as I did. Living in a sophisticated city like New York, where hospitals and medical schools are large complexes that seem impersonal and without feeling, I am deeply aware of kindness from one human being to another. I have a particularly dear friend who has courageously borne the burden of a neurological disease and now is in a period of constant pain. All conceivable modern medication failed to affect the intensity of the pain that is devastating and unbearable. I learned that a group of dedicated physicians and scientists are concentrating their energies on the control of pain and the study of its prevention.

At the Memorial Hospital in New York City, I made my first contact with Dr. Raymond W. Houde. I must be allowed the indulgence of saying that, from the moment I, a stranger, spoke to his secretary, I felt a sense of warmth, generosity, and kindness that was a prelude to one of the most gratifying experiences in my total medical practice.

The appointment was made and my friend and I spent the next few hours tracing the history of the pain, giving Dr. Houde insight into its cause, and seeking a program for its control.

That which impressed me most was the fact that within the steel and concrete structure of an impersonal hospital building lies a core of humane understanding of another human's need for the relief of such intensive and intractable pain. Dr. Houde and his co-workers are exploring every conceivable approach to the greater understanding of the total subject of pain.

NEW YORK (AP) — France's devaluation of the franc was recognition of a reality, a bowing to the course of events, something that much of the world thought was lacking in the days of Charles de Gaulle.

The reality was, that despite the official value of the franc as stated by the French government, speculators and currency traders already had devalued French money. They weren't willing to pay 20 cents for a franc.

The weakness in the French financial situation was evident as long ago as May 1968, when workers and students rioted and the workers won big pay increases, something they had been denied for years previously.

Many experts predicted then that France couldn't absorb such increases in the costs of its goods—that inevitably French goods would become too expensive to compete in world markets.

Must Divorce Bleed Men Dry?

DEAR ABBY: So much has been said about "louses" who are late with the support check, I'd like to say a few words about the other side.

My husband was stationed in Alaska when his first wife started running around. By the time he got home it was too late to save his marriage—or his credit rating. When the case came to court, he was a "gentleman" and didn't use the grounds of adultery, so the judge gave his wife custody of their four children, plus support payments that amounted to two-thirds of his salary.

Two days after we were married his wife shipped the kids to us for their "summer vacation." She came to pick them up 26 MONTHS later! During that time we had a child of our own and a second one on the way.

Whenever she gets tired of the kids she ships them to us. They are always shoeless, threadbare and starved for a decent meal. Their support money is obviously used for something else.

I believe a divorced man should support his children, but this is ridiculous. What do you say?

THE OTHER SIDE

DEAR OTHER: Hear hear! But take heart. Divorce reforms are in the works.

DEAR ABBY: There is no LAW that states a father has a 30 day "grace" period in which to make child support payments. Must the landlord or grocer wait for 30 days?

L. A. LAWYER

DEAR LAWYER: No. But if that's all the longer some of them had to wait, they'd be happy.

DEAR ABBY: I had the same problem as "LOVES POPS." Daddy was 80 years old and he also used a magnifying glass to read the newspaper, but he insisted on driving his automobile. All the people on our street knew what a terrible driver he was, and they'd get out of his way when they saw him coming. If anyone suggested that maybe he should quit driving, we had a fight on our hands.

I wrote to the State Motor Vehicle Department and told them my problem, asking them not to let my father know who tipped them off.

Shortly afterwards Daddy received an official notice to appear for a "re-testing." Of course he failed, and the examining officer who gave him the test said he had never seen a worse driver.

Our family was greatly relieved, and Daddy never knew who turned him in. Please don't use my name. He's still living and plenty sore.

HIS LOVING DAUGHTER

DEAR ABBY: Recently a lady who signed herself "LOVES POPS" wrote that she was worried about her 82-year-old father whom she felt was too old to drive as he had already had a few minor accidents.

Wanting to find out what "Pops" chances for survival were, I looked up the 1965 statistics of the National Safety Council, and this is what I came up with:

In the age group "75 and over" there were 15 accidents per 100 drivers per year. In the age group "under 20," the figure was 35. In the age group 20-24 it was 34. As for fatal accidents: In the age group "75 and over," there were 76 fatal accidents per 100,000 drivers per year. The under 20 drivers were killed at the rate of 89 per 100,000 per year. And the 20-24, at the rate of 101 per year.

One may say, "The older drivers may have fewer accidents, but those who drive too slowly cause OTHERS to have accidents." This may be

Ohio Marine Killed In Viet War Action

Rights Chief Misses Death In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A civil rights leader who escaped an assassination attempt Monday afternoon said that he had been warned twice last week that an attempt would be made on his life.

Baxter Hill, 34, director of Pride, Inc., a summer employment agency for inner-city youth and a rumor control center to check on reports of race trouble escaped from three to five Negro gunmen who forced his car to a stop on the southeast side of the city and opened fire.

Police said they had no evidence of a link between the assassination attempt and Sunday's slaying of Leander Jackson, 30, the third-ranking officer in Pride Inc. Police were holding a man for investigation in that shooting.

Hill, a Negro, said after his car was forced over and two armed men appeared, he fell to the floor, rolled out the door on the passenger's side, and fled down an alley. Witnesses reported several men from a second car also shot at Hill as he fled.

Hill is a member of Operation Black Unity which has been picketing the McDonald's Restaurant chain, and his Pride Inc.

has been campaigning to force prostitutes out of the black community.

Judge Holds Dayton Union In Contempt

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Common Pleas Judge J. Paul Brenton held the Dayton Public Service Union in contempt of court Monday for violating picketing restrictions at Good Samaritan Hospital.

Brenton ordered the union, which is striking for recognition to post $100,000 bond and made a temporary restraining order permanent.

Must Divorce Bleed Men Dry?

DEAR ABBY: So much has been said about "louses" who are late with the support check, I'd like to say a few words about the other side.

My husband was stationed in Alaska when his first wife started running around. By the time he got home it was too late to save his marriage—or his credit rating. When the case came to court, he was a "gentleman" and didn't use the grounds of adultery, so the judge gave his wife custody of their four children, plus support payments that amounted two-thirds of his salary.

Two days after we were married his wife shipped the kids to us for their "summer vacation." She came to pick them up 26 MONTHS later! During that time we had a child of our own and a second one on the way.

Whenever she gets tired of the kids she ships them to us. They are always shoeless, threadbare and starved for a decent meal. Their support money is obviously used for something else.

I believe a divorced man should support his children, but this is ridiculous. What do you say?

THE OTHER SIDE
DEAR OTHER: Hear hear! But take heart. Divorce reforms are in the works.

DEAR ABBY: There is no LAW that states a father has a 30 day "grace" period in which to make child support payments. Must the landlord or grocer wait for 30 days?

L. A. LAWYER
DEAR LAWYER: No. But if that's all the longer some of them had to wait, they'd be happy.

DEAR ABBY: I had the same problem as "LOVES POPS." Daddy was 80 years old and he also used a magnifying glass to read the newspaper, but he insisted on driving his automobile. All the people on our street knew what a terrible driver he was, and they'd get out of his way when they saw him coming. If anyone suggested that maybe he should quit driving, we had a fight on our hands.

I wrote to the State Motor Vehicle Department and told them my problem, asking them not to let my father know who tipped them off.

Shortly afterwards Daddy received an official notice to appear for a "re-testing." Of course he failed, and the examining officer who gave him the test said he had never seen a worse driver.

Delightful Strawberries In Berry Best Season

By ALICE DENHOFF

Through the centuries, pioneers, settlers and wanderers have found their way to that Eldorado that we know as California. Among their contributions has been a marvelous array of recipes from many lands.

International Mixture

These include a variety of Colonial dishes, a combination of English, Dutch and Indian — with many a recipe that took advantage of the splendid strawberries that the pioneers found growing in California's coastal valleys. There were flummies and fools (sweets) of pureed fruits and cream; cobblers, slumps (more sweets) of fruits and biscuits; conserves and wine, custards; sillabubs (beverages) shrubs (more beverages); and a variety of other goodies such as uncomplicated puddings, called "Simple Puddings."

Brought up to date, below, is the first of a delightful trio of desserts built around California's strawberries.

STRAWBERRY BREAD PUDDING

2 pints strawberries, halved
1 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
Dash cloves
2 tablespoons water
12 slices of day old bread, crusts removed
1-3 cup butter or margarine, melted
2 cups sweetened white cream
Whole strawberries for garnish

Mix together in a saucepan the first 3 ingredients. Cook and stir slowly to boiling. Simmer 3 to 4 minutes.
Brush bread on both sides with butter. Line bottom and sides of a 1 1/2-quart souffle or serving dish with bread slices. Brush edges of bread slices with syrup from cooked strawberries. Alternate layers of cooked strawberries and remaining bread in the dish. Cover and chill for several hours or overnight. Garnish with cream and whole berries.

STRAWBERRY MERINGUE PUDDING

2 pints strawberries, sliced
3/4 cup granulated sugar
4 egg whites
2 tablespoons each, orange juice and lemon juice
Whole strawberries
Crush berries in medium bowl; sprinkle with 1/4 cup of the sugar; chill 1 to 2 hours, stirring occasionally.
Drain strawberries, reserving syrup. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually beat in remaining sugar, beating until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in the reserved syrup, beating until peaks form. Fold in drained berries, lemon and orange juices. Spoon into 6 or 8 sherbet glasses or compotes; chill 1/2 hour.

Garnish with whole strawberries.

SOUR CREAM STRAWBERRY DESSERT

1 pint fresh California strawberries
2 pints sour cream
1 cup sugar
1/4 cup almond macaroon crumbs
1 teaspoon vanilla
Dash salt

Thinly slice berries, reserving a few for garnish. Combine remaining ingredients in a bowl; fold in sliced berries. Freeze in individual molds, bisque tortoni cups or refrigerator trays (total volume is about 5 cups). Let cream mellow in refrigerator or at room temperature before serving. Serves 8.

Fair Skies Cover Much Of America

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair and pleasant weather favored most of the nation today, marred only by a scattering of showers in parts of the West.

Hurricane Blanche pounded the Atlantic shipping lanes with winds up to 90 miles an hour, but the Weather Bureau said the storm was not expected to endanger land areas. Blanche was some 200 miles east of Cape Cod, Mass., before dawn and churning northeastward.

Showers or thundershowers dampening portions of the Rockies and adjacent plains accompanied a cool front spilling out of the Pacific Northwest.

Nighttime showers splashed over parts of the South from Texas to the Carolinas. More than 1 1/2 inches of rain soaked New Bern, N.C.

An afternoon thunderstorm struck the Wisconsin State Fair just outside of Milwaukee on Monday, and winds smashed down two tents and a number of power lines. Nearly 150 persons were treated for injuries, but none was reported to be serious.

Despite the cooling trend seeping out of the Northwest, much of the Western interior remained locked in some of the hottest weather of the summer. Waco, Tex., sizzled up to its highest temperature on record Monday with a reading of 112. Temperatures before dawn ranged from 47 at Bradford, Pa., to 101 at Neeles, Calif.

Alcoholics Have New Sanatorium

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — A sanatorium for the rehabilitation and treatment of alcoholic Catholic priests and brothers, the second in the nation, will be dedicated and formally opened in Rochester Sunday.

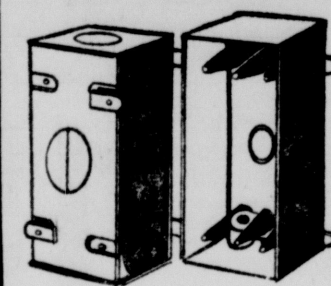

Called Guest House, the project was founded almost 20 years ago by author, lecturer and recovered alcoholic Austin Ripley. A first project in Chipewa Falls failed for lack of financial support in the early 1950s, but another Guest House, located on a 99-acre site at Lake Orion, Mich., is reported doing well. Since it was founded in 1956, the Lake Orion home has helped almost 500 Catholic priests and brothers recover from alcoholism.

Northwest Gives Up Bid To Take Over Goodrich

CHICAGO (AP) — Northwest Industries, Inc., has ended a months-long attempt to take over the B.F. Goodrich Co.

The Chicago-based conglomerate announced Monday it would not extend the tender offer made in January to shareholders of the Akron, Ohio, rubber manufacturer. The offer expired at 8 p.m. EDT Monday.

The decision not to extend the offer was based on current market conditions, a Northwest spokesman said.

Northwest, which owned about 11 per cent of Goodrich's stock up to two weeks ago, "has reached no decision as to whether an additional offer will be made in the future but will keep the matter under consideration," a Northwest statement said.

"As by far the largest shareholder of Goodrich, Northwest will be vitally interested in whether Goodrich's future performance matches the public predictions made by its management in recent months," the statement added.

A Northwest spokesman said a final count of the number of Goodrich shares tendered will be announced as soon as practicable.

Goodrich chairman J. Ward Keener hailed the decision by Northwest not to extend its offer, saying in a statement, "naturally Northwest quit."

"As of the close of business today (Monday), B.F. Goodrich common stock was selling at $39.25 a share, compared with the when-issued bid price on the Northwest exchange package of $38.79," Keener said.

"As for Northwest's making an additional offer in the future," he said, "they have their hands full putting their own house in order."

The exchange offer tendered Jan. 20 and revised several times engaged the two companies in a heated contest in which each has taken the other to court. It also brought an antitrust suit from the Justice Department which sought unsuccessfully a federal court injunction to halt the action.

In the latest court action, Federal Judge Edwin D. Steel dismissed a Goodrich suit on Monday which had sought an injunction to restrain Northwest from continuing its takeover effort.

While damage reports have ranged from $10 to $20 million, the Insurance Information Institute reported Monday that "insured" losses should run nearly $7 million. The figure does not include uninsured or partially insured losses and damage to autos.

Mike Collins, an institute spokesman said the insured loss was the highest ever in a storm here.

The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. said that "hopefully" its services in the area would be restored fully today.

The Cincinnati & Suburban Bell Telephone Co. said that nearly all of 6,000 lines would be operative some time today.

The dismissal motion in U.S. District Court in Wilmington, Del., was filed by the Interstate Commerce Commission which maintained the court lacked jurisdiction.

Northwest built primarily around the Chicago and North Western Railway, has been listed as the 63rd largest U.S. company in 1968 and Goodrich was the 82nd. Together they would have formed the 38th largest corporation.

Solons Delay Welfare Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's call for a massive overhaul of the nation's welfare system is being tagged as 1970 business by congressional leaders.

The President, in submitting details of his plan in a message to Congress Monday, urged swift action on the $4 billion proposal.

"We have it in our power," he said, "to raise the standard of living and realize hopes of millions of our fellow citizens."

But key legislators who will have to deal with the plan said they saw no possibility it could get floor consideration in either the House or Senate until next year.

They pointed out the President himself was recommending that it not take effect until July 1, 1970.

Sources in the House Ways and Means Committee, which will have to act first on the legislation, said it was possible the panel could begin hearings later this session.

But, they said, there appeared to be almost no chance for floor action until 1970.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Finance Committee which will handle the measure in the Senate said it was obvious his panel could not get to it this year.

The committee agreed Monday to a schedule on the House-passed tax reform bill which will engage it for the remainder of the 1969 session.

Quakes Send Tidal Waves Along Japan

No Casualties, Major Damage Yet Reported

TOKYO (AP) — A series of severe earthquakes sent four-foot tidal waves rippling along the northeast coast of Japan's northernmost main island today and rocked Hong Kong and Indonesia's Celebes Island. But no casualties or major damage were reported.

A major quake shook the northern Japanese island of Hokkaido early this morning, and minor aftershocks continued for almost four hours. The meteorological agency in Tokyo said the center of the main quake was in the Pacific 94 miles east of Hokkaido.

Officials said it was the strongest earthquake to hit Japan this year and could have caused major damage if it had been centered in a populated area.

Another strong quake hit the Manado region of the northern Celebes about three hours after the major shock in Japan, the Jakarta Seismological Bureau reported. There were no immediate reports from the area. It was the third quake within a week in the region and the ninth this year. Casualties were heavy in the previous quakes.

The Royal Observatory in Hong Kong said tremors were felt in the British colony for more than two hours.

Two earthquakes rocked parts of central Italy Monday, injuring four persons and damaging 100 houses. The damage centered in an area, around Perugia, in the rolling Umbrian countryside north of Rome.

Government Cuts Wheat Allotment For 3rd Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the third consecutive year, the federal government has cut wheat acreage allotments—this time to a record low of 45.5 million acres for the 1970 crop.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced Monday the 12 per cent reduction from the 51.6 million acres in effect this year. The cut is a bid to head off rising surpluses.

Farmers would be eligible under the program for basic price support loans of $1.25 per bushel, plus additional payments for their share of wheat used domestically. Except for revisions reflecting changing prices, most of the 1970 wheat program remains unchanged from this year's arrangement.

U.S. wheat exports lag far behind peaks of recent years—with those for the fiscal year that ended June 30 totaling 542 million bushels, against 761 million in 1967-68. Carryover sup-

State Of Texas Sets War Against 'Plundering Pirates'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler says "pilfering, plundering and pillaging" pirates have looted the treasures from a fleet of sunken Spanish galleons off storied Padre Island.

"But we will catch them," the salty, snuff-dipping Sadler, 61, vowed at a news conference.

"We will find these pirates and bring them and their booty into a court of justice if we have to trail them around the world."

Controversy has surrounded the treasure-laden vessels since an Indiana firm recovered a fortune in precious objects from one galleon earlier this year. The ships went down in the Gulf of Mexico during a hurricane off the lower Texas coast in 1553. Their hulls reportedly contained millions of dollars in silver, gold and archeological treasures from Mexico.

All the objects recovered by the salvage firm, Platoro, Ltd. of Gary, Ind., are believed to be in the possession of the Texas Land Office. But Platoro has filed suit seeking title.

A district judge has granted a temporary restraining order against Platoro, prohibiting further salvage work.

Sadler said he had just returned from the spot where the remains of the ships have lain since their discovery several years ago near the island which once was a hangout of pirate Jean Lafitte and other sea wolves.

"Nothing but craters are left at the site," he reported. The small amounts of silt in the scooped-out craters indicate the piracy was recent, he added.

He said "some Texas people, some from out of state," apparently used small submarines to retrieve the treasures.

"I have tips, leads and information," Sadler declared. "When you get that many thieves, somebody's going to squeal."

He said it was impossible to estimate the loss "because we don't know how much is missing."

Vote To End 4-Day Strike At Pan Am

NEW YORK (AP) — Clerical and cargo employees returned to work today at Pan American World Airways after voting to approve a new three year contract and end a four-day, nationwide strike.

Pan Am said it resumed normal flight schedules early today following ratification of the contract agreement reached last Friday between the airline and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Harold Gibbons, a Teamsters vice president, said the vote was 62 to 35 per cent in favor of the pact which he described as "the best labor contract ever negotiated in the history of the airline industry."

The contract calls for a 37.4 per cent wage increase over the three years plus a variety of improved benefits. The wage hike will boost the average pay of 10,000 workers from $3.30 an hour to $4.52.

Pan Am said the contract included a cost-of-living clause providing for a one-cent increase in hourly wages for each 0.4 increase in the Labor Department price index, with a ceiling of 9 cents in a year.

Pan Am, the nation's largest overseas air carrier, normally operates 460 flights daily between 119 cities in 81 countries. The strike halted most of the line's service.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Franklin County Board of Elections decided Monday to place a one-half per cent sales tax proposal on the Nov. 4 ballot.

Cincy Awaits Declaration Of Disaster

CINCINNATI (AP) — Victims of Saturday night's tornado still were waiting today to find out if Hamilton County would be declared a federal disaster area.

Difficulties obtaining damage estimates from the storm that killed four persons and injured more than 250 had hampered Gov. James A. Rhodes in officially asking for the federal classification. That would make victims eligible for low interest federal loans.

The Small Business Administration tagged the county a disaster area Monday, making 3 per cent loans for losses up to $100,000 available to businesses and homeowners.

While damage reports have ranged from $10 to $20 million, the Insurance Information Institute reported Monday that "insured" losses should run nearly $7 million. The figure does not include uninsured or partially insured losses and damage to autos.

Mike Collins, an institute spokesman said the insured loss was the highest ever in a storm here.

Northwest Gives Up Bid To Take Over Goodrich

Pan Am said it resumed normal flight schedules early today following ratification of the contract agreement reached last Friday between the airline and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Harold Gibbons, a Teamsters vice president, said the vote was 65 to 35 per cent in favor of the pact which he described as "the best labor contract ever negotiated in the history of the airline industry."

The contract calls for a 37.4 per cent wage increase over the three years plus a variety of improved benefits. The wage hike will boost the average pay of 10,000 workers from $3.30 an hour to $4.52.

Pan Am said the contract included a cost-of-living clause providing for a one-cent increase in hourly wages for each 0.4 increase in the Labor Department price index, with a ceiling of 9 cents in a year.

Pan Am, the nation's largest overseas air carrier, normally operates 460 flights daily between 119 cities in 81 countries. The strike halted most of the line's service.

Cloud Denies Polls Stacked For Him

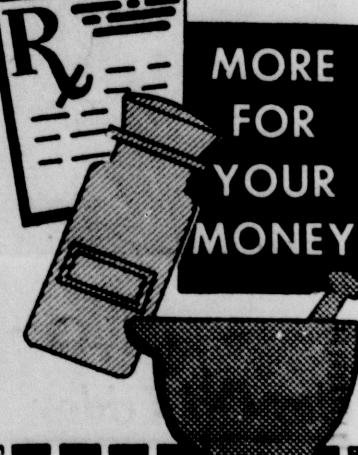

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "I think that's kind of silly," State Auditor Roger Cloud said Monday in denying charges that he has attempted to stack political polls in his favor.

Elks — Little League Majors

Play-Off Friday

Elks, Herald Win LL Majors

BPO Elks and the Herald Hawks will play-off for the championship of the Little League Majors 7:30 p.m. Friday on the Ted Lewis Softball diamond.

The Herald gained the play-off berth by defeating Bingham's 16-1. Elks blasted American Legion 7-0 to earn a shot at the outright title.

The Herald, Elks and American Legion were knotted 10-4 and leading the league going into Monday's games. By rights, the Herald and the Elks should be declared co-champions. A play-off was decided upon by both coaches with the Little League pitching rule waived for the contest.

The Herald trounced Bingham's in the first game on the Little League diamond.

DOUG Radabaugh fired an eight-hitter for the win. Bingham's scored their lone run in the fifth inning when Terry Brown blasted a triple and scored.

Radabaugh walked four batters and fanned seven in the game.

The Hawks battered two Bingham pitchers for 14 hits. Radabaugh tagged a double and a single. Jeff Williams collected four straight singles. Jim Hoffman had four singles. Joe Funk and Wade Cook rapped two singles apiece.

Terry Brown and Brent Mancini fired for Bingham's. Brown walked seven batters, struck-out seven and allowed 12 hits.

Mancini walked six, fanned one and allowed two hits.

FINE defensive play by the Elks turned a close game into a runaway in the second game on the Little League diamond.

In the second inning, the Legion's Rick Ramsey opened the inning by being hit by the pitcher. Legion catcher Joe Smith followed with a hard single to center field. But Elks fielder Jack Cradlebaugh caught the ball and threw to Randy Thomas covering third to register the out.

In the third inning, with Legion runners on first and second base and two outs, Mark Waites blooped a sure hit into right field. But Cradlebaugh was there on a fine running stab to make the out.

In the fourth, Cradlebaugh ran back, leaped and speared a drive off the bat of Joe Smith to register another big out.

The Elks scored a single run in the first inning, one in the fourth and five in the fifth to win the game.

Randy Thomas fired for the winners, allowing two hits. He didn't permit a walk and fanned nine batters.

RICK Ramsey started for the Legion team. He walked a batter, fanned seven and allowed all the Elks runs on five hits.

Mike Diltz pitched the last inning and fanned the side.

Brian Herron paced the Elks at the plate with three singles. Randy Thomas connected for a triple and Jack Cradlebaugh had a single.

In another Little League Major tilt, Purina bumped Coca-Cola 3-2 in a battle for third place. Purina is 4-10, while Coke dropped to 3-11.

Paul Combs won the game for Purina on the mound. He walked two batters, fanned two and allowed five hits.

Sam Webb headed a Purina defense that aided in the win. He made six unassisted put-outs on first base, four in a row during the third and fourth innings.

THE game was ended on a double play. Third sacker Matt McGowan scooped up the ball, stepped on third to force the runner and fired the width of the diamond to put out the batter.

Bruce Brudzinski and Perry Hoskins were the Coke pitchers. Brudzinski walked nine batters, fanned seven and allowed two hits. Hoskins walked two, fanned six and allowed one hit.

Hoskins smashed a triple for the only extra base hit for Coke.

Don Drysdale Retires Due To Shoulder

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Donald Scott Drysdale says he's in good physical shape — strong legs, good reflexes, timing just as good as ever. Only one thing is bothering him but it's forcing his retirement.

The 6-foot-6 Los Angeles Dodger right-hander said Monday he was quitting baseball because of a painful injury to his right shoulder, an injury diagnosed as a torn "rotary cup" — what gets your arm in position to throw and creates elasticity.

The injury put the 219-pounder out of action for the first time on April 22, when he went on the disabled list hoping rest would cure the pain.

He returned, pitched well but fitfully and was sidelined again early last month. Back July 27, he pitched three games, then said he didn't want to hurt the team with his inconsistency.

With a 5-4 record, he said "this team has a chance to go all the way. I don't want to jeopardize their chances."

"After a lot of talking and soul-searching, especially in the last four days," Drysdale announced his retirement at a news conference Monday.

In 14 seasons with the Dodgers, Big D won more games — 209 — than any other Dodger in history. He also holds club records for most innings pitched, 3,342; most strikeouts, 2,486; and most shutouts, 49.

Last season, one of his most successful, Drysdale hurled six straight shutouts and had a string of 58 2-3 consecutive scoreless innings to set major league records.

Legion Clashes Hot And Heavy; Ashley Victor

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ashley and Grove City put on quite a show Monday in a four-hour 18-inning American Legion baseball tournament game that ended with Ashley on top 4-3.

But the extended contest might have hampered either team's chances of capturing the state title since, pitching-wise, it amounted to two full games.

Legion rules permit a hurler to work a maximum of 12 innings in three days. Ashley aces Ron Rausch and Bruce Rupp each pitched nine innings Monday, while Grove City's hot-shot lefty, Dave Meitas, worked the maximum 12.

In other games Monday, morning action saw Sidney downing Miamisburg, 4-2; Euclid outscoring Portsmouth, 13-6, and Conneaut trouncing Findlay 10-1.

In afternoon play, Cincinnati Budde edged Elvria 1-0 in 12 innings. Lancaster, last year's runnerup, defeated Steubenville, 5-2, and Bridgeport trimmed Kent, 7-6.

Ashley squeezed in the winning run in the bottom of the 18th inning on a squeeze bunt by catcher Dennis Kaehler, which scored Jim Russell.

Budde pulled out its win over Elvria after Greg Grove reached first on an error, stole second and scored on Dennis Young's single, only the second hit allowed by Elvria hurler Dale Bullock.

Winner John Snider of Lancaster allowed two runs in the second inning and then held Steubenville scoreless while his teammates broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning with two runs and added an insurance tally in the ninth.

Kent rallied for five runs in the eighth inning to take a 6-5 lead, but Bridgeport came back with two more in the final stanza for the win.

All competing teams moved on to today's play in the double-elimination tournament.

In morning games, Miamisburg met Portsmouth, Findlay faced Elvria and Grove City went against Steubenville. Losers of these games will be eliminated.

Kent fights for survival in an afternoon game against Sidney, while other winners bracket games feature Euclid versus Conneaut, Budde against Ashley and Lancaster meeting Bridgeport.

U.S. Brings Home 34th Wightman Cup

CLEVELAND (AP) — Julie Heldman reached into a trash can Monday and came out with two things—goose bumps and America's 34th Wightman Cup in 41 years.

The 23-year-old, happy-go-lucky New Yorker, who got the U. S. off on the right foot Saturday, used a variety of lobs, drops, and hard drives in beating Great Britain's Winnie Shaw 6-3, 6-4 in their singles match.

The victory gave the Americans an unbeatable 4-2 edge in the best-of-seven series and brought the cup back to the U. S.

TRIPLE — Randy Thomas, Elk pitcher, picked up his bat and walloped a triple in the Elks five-run fifth inning Monday as the Elks thumped American Legion 7-0 to tie for the Major title.

Houston Gives Mets Nightmare; Win, 3-0

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
This has been a dream season for the New York Mets, marred only by an occasional nightmare courtesy of Tom Griffin and the Houston Astros.

The latest episode occurred Monday night by a 3-0 score. It was Houston's 85th victory in 134 games with the Mets since the expansion twins were born in 1962. The record in Houston is now 49-17—28-12 in the Astrodome and 21-5 in old Colt Stadium.

Griffin was the chief culprit, yielding four hits and striking out nine in eight innings before giving way to Fred Gladding, who notched his 24th save. The 21-year-old rookie right hander has whipped the Mets all three times he's faced them, allowing no runs, only 13 hits and fanning 28 in 25 innings.

The loss dropped the second-place Mets 7½ games behind the Chicago Cubs in the National League East and left them only two percentage points in front of the surging St. Louis Cardinals, who tripped Los Angeles 4-2.

In the only other NL contest, the Cincinnati Reds edged Philadelphia 4-3 and stretched their lead in the West to three games over idle Atlanta. Fifth-place Houston remained 4½ back, one-half game behind Los Angeles and San Francisco.

As far as the Mets are concerned, the best thing about Houston is that they only have two games left with the Astros in 1969. The Astros have won eight of 10—and seven in a row—from New York, the only club to hold an edge over the Mets this season.

Griffin, 8-5, has a 4.46 earned run average against the rest of the league, but it's 3.59 over-all—thanks to the Mets. Manager Harry Walker yanked him after he fell behind the leadoff batter in the ninth. Gladding completed the walk and also allowed a single, but got J.C. Martin to bounce into a game-ending double play with runners on first and third.

"He said I wasn't throwing the ball well," Griffin reported. "He said I lost something the previous inning. I thought I could still finish. I wanted to, but Harry and (pitching coach Jim) Owens can see things from the dugout that I don't know on the mound. As it was, they made a good decision. We won the game, so I can't complain."

The Astros took a 1-0 lead against Jim McAndrew, 3-5, in the second on the first of Denis Menke's three singles, a walk to Curt Blefary and Doug Rader's single. They added two insurance runs in the fifth when Jim Wynn singled and Norm Miller walked. They advanced on Menke's infield out and scored on a single by Blefary.

Tim McCarver drilled a three-run homer and Joe Hoerner rescued Steve Carlton in the ninth inning as the Cards won for the 27th time in 34 games. After the Cards grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first on a wild pick-off attempt by Claude Osteen, 15-10, McCarver unloaded with two out in the fourth.

"This is the first home run I can remember hitting here (Dodger Stadium) against a left-hander," said McCarver, a left-handed hitter. "I think I might be a little better against lefties because I'm forced to concentrate more and hang in there, which is what a good hitter has to do."

"I don't know what happened," he said, "but all of a sudden about a month ago we came to the ballpark and decided to put our heads down and drive through the wall."

Davis Returns To Vikings; Steelers Reject 'Sore Foot'

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Minnesota Vikings knew what to do with quarterback Joe Kapp's sprained knee. But what will they do about Cory Davis' sore foot?

Kapp injured his right knee during Saturday's 26-6 exhibition victory over the Denver Broncos and was hobbling around training camp today in a walking cast. Coach Bud Grant says he hopes the cast will hasten healing so Kapp will be ready to go against the St. Louis Cardinals Aug. 23.

Davis, a 21-year-old rookie running back from Kansas State, had been acquired by Pittsburgh from Minnesota last week. But he was returned to the Vikings Monday after he reported to the Steelers' camp with a sore foot. Davis was the nation's leading scorer his sophomore year. He had been acquired by Pittsburgh in a trade for wide receiver Ken Hebert and a kicker. The Steelers said Hebert would remain with the Vikings but the trade would have to be renegotiated.

The Broncos emerged from their first pre-season outing with nothing more serious than a few bumps and bruises.

The Buffalo Bills, still licking their chops over their 21-17 weekend upset over Vince Lombardi's Washington Redskins, welcomed O.J. Simpson into training camp after a wild airport reception for the Heisman Trophy running back. After an airport welcome by 2,000 exuberant fans, Simpson said, "I hope Friday's game in Detroit isn't as rough as the reception here."

The Redskins traded tight end Ken Barefoot to the Detroit Lions for a 1970 draft choice. Also placed on waivers were running backs Vilnis Ezerins and Don Fitzgerald.

In Green Bay, Wis., the police say someone covered a half-dozen Lombardi Avenue street signs with bumper-type stickers reading "Hornung Drive."

Lombardi, the Packers' former coach and general manager, left earlier this year to coach the Redskins and Hornung, now retired, was the Packers' star halfback under Lombardi. The police say the signs will have to be taken down and repainted.

The St. Louis Cardinals came out of their 13-6 victory over the New York Jets with some very firm opinions about the Jets, and their chances against the New York Giants Sunday. The Giants must also bounce back from a 22-21 drubbing by the Packers for what's billed as the New York City Championship.

"The Jets will kill them," said Bob De Marco, the Cardinals' nine-year veteran center. The Cardinals also think Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank will release his veterans—including quarterback Joe Namath—full force.

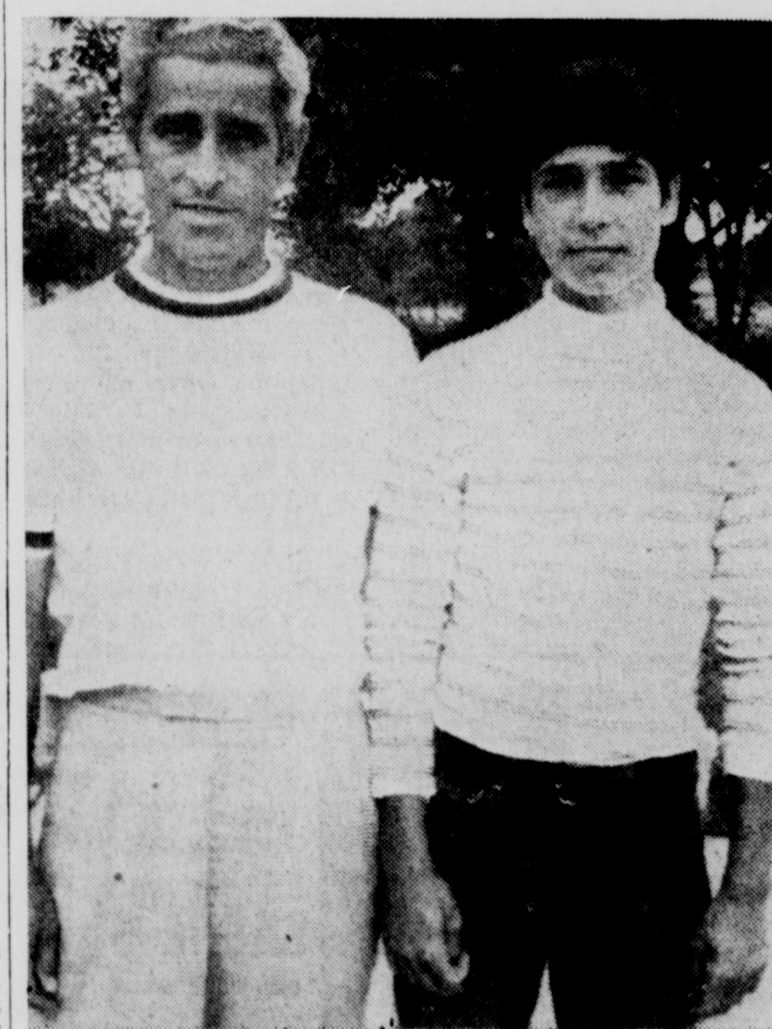

"Namath won't be playing just for half the game," De Marco said. "That game is going to be a blood game."

The Giants will be without end Pete Gent, linebacker Tommy Crutcher and defensive back Bruce Maher, who sprained their ankles; guard Pete Case, wrenched knee; safety Spolder Lockhart, bruised thigh; and linebacker Ken Avery, pinched neck nerve.

The Baltimore Colts came through unscathed from their 34-30 victory over Oakland but the Kansas City Chiefs, who trounced the Detroit Lions 38-13, listed six players as questionable starters against Cincinnati Saturday. Most seriously hurt was rookie linebacker Bill Overton of Wake Forest, who needed 20 stitches to close a cut on his chin.

The Giants must also bounce back from a 22-21 drubbing by the Packers for what's billed as the New York City Championship.

"The Jets will kill them," said Bob De Marco, the Cardinals' nine-year veteran center. The Cardinals also think Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank will release his veterans—including quarterback Joe Namath—full force. "Namath won't be playing just for half the game," De Marco said. "That game is going to be a blood game."

The Giants will be without end Pete Gent, linebacker Tommy Crutcher and defensive back Bruce Maher, who sprained their ankles; guard Pete Case, wrenched knee; safety Spider Lockhart, bruised thigh; and linebacker Ken Avery, pinched neck nerve.

The Baltimore Colts came through unscathed from their 34-30 victory over Oakland but the Kansas City Chiefs, who trounced the Detroit Lions 38-13, listed six players as questionable starters against Cincinnati Saturday. Most seriously hurt was rookie linebacker Bill Overton of Wake Forest, who needed 20 stitches to close a cut on his chin.

Kiwanis — Babe Ruth Champs

Kiwanis Dumps DuPont, 13-2, In Last Tilt

Kiwanis dumped DuPont in the last Babe Ruth League tilt of the season Monday night, 13-2.

The winners took the league by one game over GE with a 9-3 record for the season. DuPont copped third in the league with a 4-8 record. Lindsey managed three wins for the year against ten losses to take fourth.

Harold Smith cracked the longest homer of the season for the winners and scored before the ball came back into the infield. Don Valentine tagged a three bagger for the Kiwanis squad while Mike Fuller, Dave Truex and Smith hit doubles.

Valentine was the winning hurler for the champions. He whiffed seven, gave up five bases on balls and allowed four hits.

TRUEX pitched for DuPont and suffered the loss. He gave up eight hits and two bases on balls while striking out six batters before he was relieved by Doyle Kiser. Kiser finished the tilt for the losers, fanning three and allowing four bases on balls while being tagged for two hits.

Kiwanis trailed 2-1 after three innings of play then rallied with nine runs in the top of the fourth, one marker in the fifth and two in the sixth on ten hits while DuPont never scored again. The losers had four hits.

Kiwanis' championship was their third win in as many years.

Black Golfer Likes Tour

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Curtis Sifford is one of the lesser-knowns on the pro golf tour, usually having to qualify each week for a tournament berth and winding up not meeting expenses.

But he's representative of the new breed—the black pro golfer. "All I've got to do is play," Sifford said during the recently-concluded $10,000 Greater Milwaukee Open. "I don't have any problems on the tour."

A native of Los Angeles, Curtis is one of nine Negroes on the tour, playing at country clubs where he could not become a member.

This is Sifford's first year on the tour, but his name is well known. He's the nephew of Charlie Sifford, who has been on the tour for several years and is vocal about his inability to play in the famed Masters tournament.

The others on the tour include Lee Elder, the top black golfer this year. Elder finished third at Milwaukee, picking up $7,100, and might have won the $20,000 first prize if it wasn't for one hole, the 12th, which he bogeyed all four rounds. Elder wound up only three strokes off the winning pace set by Ken Still.

Stewart Leads Reds Win On Bruised Foot

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jimmy Stewart had another chance to start Monday night and he wasn't going to let a bruised foot stop him.

Nicknamed "super sub" by Jim Merritt, Stewart drove in the winning run in the eighth inning against Philadelphia as the Reds won 4-3.

"I didn't know whether he could catch it or not," Stewart said about his seeing-eye hit that just went by first baseman Richie Allen and scored Merritt from second with the winning run.

Stewart, who collected three hits in five trips to raise his average to .264, hit the foot with a batted ball during pregame practice.

"I went in and had a half hour of whirlpool and then had it taped," he said. "It felt a lot better."

Stewart played centerfield in place of Bobby Tolan, who is serving military duty.

The victory upped Cincinnati's first place lead to three games over idle Atlanta.

Merritt, who picked up his 12th victory against five losses, went 8 1-3 innings before he was relieved by Wayne Granger.

Merritt scattered eight hits and struck out eight but said that "I lost my rhythm at times."

He gave up a two-run homer to Deron Johnson in the fourth and a run - scoring double to Cookie Rojas in the seventh. He had to hurl his way out of jams in the fifth and sixth innings with men in scoring position and less than two outs.

Oakland Whips Orioles, 7-4

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer Dave McNally has helped make the Baltimore Orioles the overwhelming choice to win the American League's Eastern Division, but he's playing no favorites in the West.

The Orioles' left-hander, who had his record-tying 17-game winning streak snapped by the Minnesota Twins last week, evened things out Monday night by losing to the Oakland A's 7-4. Although he certainly didn't plan it that way, his only two losses this season have kept the Twins and A's nip-and-tuck in the West Division.

Oakland's six-run seventh inning pulled the A's within one game of the idle Twins, the closest they've been since July 5.

But it didn't cause any great damage to the Orioles, who still lead their division by 14½ games over Detroit, which was beaten by California and Rudy May's three-hitter, 3-1.

In other games, Seattle's Don

Mincher rapped a grand slam homer in an 8-2 rout over Cleveland. Boston handed the Chicago White Sox their sixth consecutive loss, 5-2, and Washington slipped past Kansas City 2-1 in the only games scheduled.

In the National League, Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 4-3, Houston blanked the New York Mets 3-0 and St. Louis tripped Los Angeles 4-2 in the only games.

McNally, who won his first 15 games this season and has 16

victories in all, buried himself in the seventh when he gave a hit to Tom Reynolds, a walk and hit a batter to load the bases.

An error on a grounder by normally sure-handed Brooks Robinson let in the first run and Marcelino Lopez relieved, Jose Tartabull greeted him with a two-run single that put Oakland ahead and Reggie Jackson slammed a double for another run. Two more runs scored off Dick Hall on Danny Cater's sacrifice fly and an infield out.

That settled the nationally-telvised contest, ending Oakland's three-game losing streak and Baltimore's six-game winning string, the last three over Minnesota during the weekend.

May, 5-9, gave up an unearned first inning run without a hit and then yielded singles to Mickey Stanley in the fourth, Bill Freehan in the seventh and Willie Horton in the ninth as he ended the Tigers' five-game winning streak.

Batterymate Tom Egan gave him the hit he needed, a two-run homer in the second inning off Earl Wilson, 10-8, before Egan was hit in the head with a pitch by Wilson in the seventh and carried from the field. He was not believed to be injured seriously.

Mincher connected in the fifth inning and broke a 2-2 tie with his 20th homer, Diego Segui, 9-4, hurled a six-hitter, added three more runs with a bases loaded walk in the fourth and a two-run single in the ninth.

Burger Chef — Pony League Champs

Third Bank Drops Pony League Kings

Third National Bank upset the Pony League champions, Burger Chef, 6-2, Monday night.

Burger Chef took the league easily with nine wins and three losses but couldn't hold the rampaging Bankers last night. Third National tied for second in the league with a 7-5 record for the season with VFW. Kochheiser's had a 7-6 record and the Savings Bank had a 2-7-1 record.

The Bankers, playing with only eight players, trailed after two innings, 2-1. They evened the score with one marker in the third, and took the lead on a three run fourth inning. They managed one more in the sixth stanza. The winners tallied six runs on 12 hits while the champs had three hits.

John Walker was five for five at the plate for the winners with four singles and a triple. Kris Cline was three for four with three singles. Lombardo hit a double for the losers' only extra base hit of the game.

Lombardo was the losing hurler for Burger Chef. He whiffed ten, gave up 12 hits and walked five.

Allen Hawks was the winning pitcher in the Third Bank upset. He walked two and allowed only three hits while fanning nine.

John Erikson, 14, Swims The Channel

DOVER, England (AP) — John Erikson, a 14-year-old Chicago schoolboy relaxed today after his triumphant swim of the 22-mile wide English Channel and planned more adventures for the future.

"I'll try Lake Michigan next," he said, "and then maybe come back here and make a two-way non-stop bid."

The Chargers were the AFL's Western champions in 1969, their first season, and in 1961, 1963, 1964 and 1965. In between, they finish third. In 1963, they won the AFL title.

This looks to many like the fourth year in a row for a third-place finish, once again behind Oakland and Kansas City.

Oakland Whips Orioles, 7-4

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Dave McNally has helped make the Baltimore Orioles the overwhelming choice to win the American League's Eastern Division, but he's playing no favorites in the West.

The Orioles' left-hander, who had his record-tying 17-game winning streak snapped by the Minnesota Twins last week, evened things out Monday night by losing to the Oakland A's 7-4. Although he certainly didn't plan it that way, his only two losses this season have kept the Twins and A's nip-and-tuck in the West Division.

Oakland's six-run seventh inning pulled the A's within one game of the idle Twins, the closest they've been since July 5. But it didn't cause any great damage to the Orioles, who still lead their division by 14½ games over Detroit, which was beaten by California and Rudy May's three-hitter, 3-1. In other games, Seattle's Don Mincher rapped a grand slam homer in an 8-2 rout over Cleveland, Boston handed the Chicago White Sox their sixth consecutive loss, 5-2, and Washington slipped past Kansas City 2-1 in the only games scheduled.

In the National League, Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 4-3, Houston blanked the New York Mets 3-0 and St. Louis tripped Los Angeles 4-2 in the only games.

McNally, who won his first 15 games this season and has 16

victories in all, buried himself in the seventh when he gave a hit to Tom Reynolds, a walk and hit a batter to load the bases.

An error on a grounder by normally sure-handed Brooks Robinson let in the first run and Marcelino Lopez relieved Jose Tartabull greeted him with a two-run single that put Oakland ahead and Reggie Jackson slammed a double for another run. Two more runs scored off Dick Hall on Danny Cater's sacrifice fly and an infield out.

That settled the nationally-telvised contest, ending Oakland's three-game losing streak and Baltimore's six-game winning string, the last three over Minnesota during the weekend. May, 5-9, gave up an unearned first inning run without a hit and then yielded singles to Mickey Stanley in the fourth, Bill Freehan in the seventh and Willie Horton in the ninth as he ended the Tigers' five-game winning streak.

Batterymate Tom Egan gave him the hit he needed, a two-run homer in the second inning off Earl Wilson, 10-8, before Egan was hit in the head with a pitch by Wilson in the seventh and carried from the field. He was not believed to be injured seriously.

Mincher connected in the fifth inning and broke a 2-2 tie with his 20th homer, Diego Segui, 9-4, hurled a six-bitter, added three more runs with a bases loaded walk in the fourth and a two-run single in the ninth.

Third Bank Drops Pony League Kings

Third National Bank upset the Pony League champions, Burger Chef, 6-2, Monday night.

Burger Chef took the league easily with nine wins and three losses but couldn't hold the rampaging Bankers last night. Third National tied for second in the league with a 7-5 record for the season with VFW. Kochheiser's had a 7-6 record and the Savings Bank had a 2-7-1 record.

The Bankers, playing with only eight players, trailed after two innings, 2-1. They evened the score with one marker in the third, and took the lead on a three run fourth inning. They managed one more in the sixth stanza. The winners tallied six runs on 12 hits while the champs had three hits.

John Walker was five for five at the plate for the winners with four singles and a triple. Kris Cline was three for four with three singles. Lombardo hit a double for the losers' only extra base hit of the game.

Lombardo was the losing hurler for Burger Chef. He whiffed ten, gave up 12 hits and walked five.

Allen Hawks was the winning pitcher in the Third Bank upset. He walked two and allowed only three hits while fanning nine.

John Erikson, 14, Swims The Channel

DOVER, England (AP) — John Erikson, a 14-year-old Chicago schoolboy relaxed today after his triumphant swim of the 22-mile wide English Channel and planned more adventures for the future.

"I'll try Lake Michigan next," he said, "and then maybe come back here and make a two-way non-stop bid."

The Chargers were the AFL's Western champions in 1969, their first season, and in 1961, 1963, 1964 and 1965. In between, they finish third. In 1963, they won the AFL title.

This looks to many like the fourth year in a row for a third-place finish, once again behind Oakland and Kansas City.

Chargers Hope Veterans And Rookies To Mix Well

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The return of veterans such as quarterback John Hadl and all-pro receiver Lance Alworth, plus lineup changes and some promising rookies offer hope of better days for San Diego's perennially third-place Chargers of the American Football League.

The rookies include Bob Babich, the Miami of Ohio line-backer who won defensive honors in the College All-Stars' 26-24 loss Aug. 1 to the New York Jets.

There's also quarterback Marty Domres, the Chargers' No. 1 draft choice from Columbia. "That boy has a bright future," says Coach Sid Gillman. Of Mike Simpson, a wide receiver obtained from Houston as San Diego's No. 13 draft choice, Gillman is ecstatic.

"I'm really excited about Simpson," says the only head coach San Diego has ever known. "He's got tremendous speed, balance and moves."

"We've got some very bright prospects."

But the Chargers aren't hurting for receivers with Lance Alworth and Gary Gaison. Each has caught passes in excess of 1,000 yards in a single season.

Alworth, the 6-foot "all-time all-pro" in Gillman's view, has finished his sixth season with more than 1,000 yards—the only player in pro history to do it. Garrison, a San Diego boy, has caught 142 passes. Backing them up are Jacques MacKinnon, with a 645-yard year, and Willie Frazier.

The Chargers were the AFL's Western champions in 1969, their first season, and in 1961, 1963, 1964 and 1965. In between, they finish third. In 1963, they won the AFL title.

This looks to many like the fourth year in a row for a third-place finish, once again behind Oakland and Kansas City.

SECTION 2: These deposits are all predicated upon the assumption that the City would be required to remove the excavated material and make satisfactory repair to the excavation in order to properly restore the street or other public thoroughfare to at least as good a condition as it was prior to the opening, however, if the property owner or consumer doing utility installation, should choose to restore the surface over the excavation, then the major portion would be encumbered by the City. All deposits will be held for a period of one (1) year as to be assured that the final repair is durable and acceptable inspection to this effect shall be by the Director of Public Service.

SECTION 3: A Public Utility shall not be required to comply with Sections one (1) and two (2) of this Ordinance if and only if such Public Utility in writing (1) gives notice to the Director of Public Service that such Public Utility will be digging up or excavating a portion of street or alley ways at least three (3) days before beginning (except in the case of an emergency) (2) states that it will provide or see that provisions are made for safety barriers and warning lights and assumes the liability if they are not adequately provided, and (3) agrees that it will pay for the proper restoration of any such surface so dug up or excavated by it, if it fails, to meet the approval of the Service Director upon his inspection upon completion of the restoration.

SECTION 4: That any person who violates any sections of this ordinance shall be fined not more than $50.00, and a separate offense shall be deemed committed upon each day during or on which the offense occurs or continues. "All ordinances or provisions in conflict with this Ordinance are hereby repealed."

SECTION 5: That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force upon its passage and approval by the Mayor.

Army May Soon Choose 1st General From WAC Ranks

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army may be in the process of selecting its first woman general.

Officers on the Army's distaff side report happily that for the first time the records of Women's Army Corps colonels are being included in the annual review of candidates for brigadier general.

"It doesn't necessarily mean we're going to have one of our own make it this time," Col. Elizabeth P. Hoisington, director of the WACs, told a reporter.

"But the nicest thing is that at least they are now giving everybody a chance."

A selection board which will draw up the yearly list of recommendations on one-star appointments began meeting Monday. The selection process takes several days.

There are about 11,800 WACs in uniform today, many carrying out secretarial and other administrative chores for the male side of the Army. WACs serve around the world, with some 160 currently assigned in South Vietnam.

Col. Hoisington figures that most of the 12 WAC colonels now in uniform probably will be under consideration for the temporary promotion to general rank. One or more could be elevated, depending on whether their military records stack up with those of male candidates.

Congress paved the way for WACs—as well as members of the Air Force WAFs and Navy WAVES—to reach general or flag rank with an elimination of certain restrictions last year. The Air Force and Navy selection boards have not yet had an opportunity to promote a female to the higher rank.

Some WACs expect that Col. Hoisington may have the best chance of the women in her outfit to wear a star.

If she makes general, she won't be the first in her family: her brother is a retired Air Force major general.

Police Release

Investigators said they want to question friends of Miss Tate and Garretson.

Officers continued investigating the deaths of a supermarket owner and his wife whose bodies were found Sunday night, their heads hooded like one of the victims in the Saturday killings a few miles away. In both cases bodies were slashed and words were scrawled nearby in what appeared to be the victims' blood.

Despite the similarities, a police spokesman said, the cases apparently are unconnected. The couple, Leno A. LaBlanca, 44, and his wife Rosemary, 44, may have been the victims of a "copycat" killer, officers said.

Those killed with Miss Tate were Abigail Folger, 26, a San Francisco socialite; Voityek Frykowski, 37, a movie associate of Miss Tate's husband, director Roman Polanski; Jay Sebring, 26, an internationally known hairdresser; and Steven Earl Parent, 18, a student from suburban El Monte who police and Garretson's lawyer said was a friend of Garretson.

Apollo . . .

moon's Sea of Tranquility.

The alarm lights blinked when the computer became overtaxed, causing Armstrong to remark after the safe touchdown that they had been "worrying about the program alarms."

During the descent, mission control told them to stop asking the computer to display landing information. Instead, the ground passed up the data in a series of dramatic "go's."

As the Eagle neared the surface, the guidance system was taking it directly into a boulder-filled crater. Armstrong took manual control and flew to a level spot half a mile away.

If he had required 20 more seconds to find a smooth spot, he would have had to abort the landing attempt, firing Eagle's ascent engine to rejoin Collins in the command ship overhead.

Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, Apollo program manager, described it as "a team landing, with Neil at the controls and Aldrin calling out the readings of velocities and altitudes, with the guidance officer on the ground calling out go's in spite of the alarms and with the capsule communicator calling all this up to the crew."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright is pressing his demand for the top secret text of a U.S. military agreement with Thailand—and he thinks embarrassment at the Pentagon may pry it loose.

he said. "The excuse is that somebody will make a copy of it," he said.

Lt. Gen. Richard Spillwell, Brig. Gen. Jacob Glick and Col. Franklin T. Garrett were to brief the Senate panel.

Fulbright said Friday the agreement provides "in certain circumstances for the commitment of substantial numbers of American troops to Thailand."

Fulbright charged the agreement goes beyond the terms of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in committing the United States to the defense of Thailand.

Sources at the State Department said, however, that the agreement would not be triggered unless the United States made a national decision to intervene in Thailand. That is in keeping with the SEATO agreement.

Fulbright said there is no way he can force the Pentagon to produce the text.

"Our only recourse is to talk about it and perhaps embarrass them into it," he said.

Fulbright said the text might indicate its terms are acceptable. "There may not be much to it," he said.

"This agreement should be made available," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield. "If this develops into a pattern, I think it's very dangerous to the policy of this country."

Hurricane Rips North Atlantic Area

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Blanche sped toward the tip of Newfoundland today, cutting a swath through major Atlantic shipping lanes with winds estimated at 90 miles an hour.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami said Blanche, the first hurricane of the Atlantic season, would pass over or very close to extreme southeastern Newfoundland about midday.

At 6 a.m. EDT, the hurricane's center was near Latitude 44.0 north, Longitude 61.0 west, or 140 miles east-southeast of Halifax, Nova Scotia. It was moving toward the northeast at about 45 m.p.h.

Ships in the busy New York-to-Europe sea lanes radioed that highest winds were 85 to 90 m.p.h. over a small area near the center, weathermen said.

"Gales extend outward about 200 miles in the southeast quadrant and 100 miles in other quadrants," forecasters said.

"Blanche should continue at about the same intensity for the next 12 to 24 hours."

Blanche was born a week after Tropical Storm Anna, which blew itself out east of the Carolinas. Anna's top winds of 70 m.p.h. left her four miles below hurricane force.

Army May Soon Choose 1st General From WAC Ranks

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army may be in the process of selecting its first woman general.

Officers on the Army's distaff side report happily that for the first time the records of Women's Army Corps colonels are being included in the annual review of candidates for brigadier general.

"It doesn't necessarily mean we're going to have one of our own make it this time," Col. Elizabeth P. Hoisington, director of the WACs, told a reporter.

"But the nicest thing is that at least they are now giving everybody a chance."

A selection board which will draw up the yearly list of recommendations on one-star appointments began meeting Monday. The selection process takes several days.

There are about 11,800 WACs in uniform today, many carrying out secretarial and other administrative chores for the male side of the Army. WACs serve around the world, with some 160 currently assigned in South Vietnam.

Col. Hoisington figures that most of the 12 WAC colonels now in uniform probably will be under consideration for the temporary promotion to general rank. One or more could be elevated, depending on whether their military records stack up with those of male candidates.

Congress paved the way for WACs—as well as members of the Air Force WAFs and Navy WAVES—to reach general or flag rank with an elimination of certain restrictions last year.

The Air Force and Navy selection boards have not yet had an opportunity to promote a female to the higher rank.

Some WACs expect that Col. Hoisington may have the best chance of the women in her outfit to wear a star.

If she makes general, she won't be the first in her family: her brother is a retired Air Force major general.

Police Release

Investigators said they want to question friends of Miss Tate and Garretson.

Officers continued investigating the deaths of a supermarket owner and his wife whose bodies were found Sunday night, their heads hooded like one of the victims in the Saturday killings a few miles away. In both cases bodies were slashed and words were scrawled nearby in what appeared to be the victims' blood.

Despite the similarities, a police spokesman said, the cases apparently are unconnected. The couple, Leno A. LaBianca, 44, and his wife Rosemary, 44, may have been the victims of a "copycat" killer, officers said.

Those killed with Miss Tate were Abigail Folger, 26, a San Francisco socialite; Voityck Frykowski, 37, a movie associate of Miss Tate's husband, director Roman Polanski; Jay Sebring, 26, an internationally known hairdresser; and Steven Earl Parent, 18, a student from suburban El Monte who police and Garretson's lawyer said was a friend of Garretson.

Apollo . . .

moon's Sea of Tranquility.

The alarm lights blinked when the computer became overtaxed, causing Armstrong to remark after the safe touchdown that they had been "worrying about the program alarms."

During the descent, mission control told them to stop asking the computer to display landing information. Instead, the ground passed up the data in a series of dramatic "go's."

As the Eagle neared the surface, the guidance system was taking it directly into a boulder-filled crater. Armstrong took manual control and flew to a level spot half a mile away.

If he had required 20 more seconds to find a smooth spot, he would have had to abort the landing attempt, firing Eagle's ascent engine to rejoin Collins in the command ship overhead.

Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, Apollo program manager, described it as "a team landing, with Neil at the controls and Aldrin calling out the readings of velocities and altitudes, with the guidance officer on the ground calling out go's in spite of the alarms and with the capsule communicator calling all this up to the crew."
